DISTURBANCES AT VERDUN THREE RIVERS MAR VOTING

Emergency Powers Invoked to Appoint Special Police as Duplessis Seeks Party Re-Election

Compiled from C.P., B.U.P. Dispatches
The blast of a shotgun charge against a mayor's windshield and a report of angry baseball bat-toting crowds highlighted the mass movement of 2,225,000 voters towards the polls today in Quebec's hectic provincial elections.
At Three Rivers the windshield of an automobile owned by Mayor J. A. Bongrain, who is opposing Premier Maurice Duplessis in the Three Rivers riding, was shattered by a shotgun blast late Tuesday, and the mayor said today "it was apparently an attempt to get me."

Quebec electors vote today from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. E.D.T. Early results are expected here about 5 p.m. P.D.T. Interested readers are invited to phone the Victoria Daily Times at B 3131 for the results as they come in on the Canadian Press wires.

In Verdun police were reported rounding up scores of persons attempting to interfere with the voting. At least 30 persons, many of them armed with baseball bats and other offensive weapons—have been taken into custody. Police say that some 75 persons gathered near the National Union Party headquarters and were promptly scattered by police squads.

Elsewhere, voting is reported quiet and getting heavier. Two of the voters who already have cast ballots are Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and his wife. Duplessis' governing Union Nationale party, seeking to duplicate its election victories of 1944 and 1948, has 91 candidates in the field. The Liberals have entered 92, the C.C.F. 23, Labor-Progressive Party four and miscellaneous groups 24.

The Union Nationale captured 81 of the 82 legislative seats in the 1948 contests and held a 71-member majority when the house was dissolved May 28 last.

This was the final House standing: Union Nationale—81; Liberals, eight; Nationalist, one; Independent, one; vacant, one; total, 92.

Promises of social improvements have featured the Liberal and Union Nationale platforms in the campaign.

How much do you know about what's happening inside the United States Democratic Party as convention time approaches? Here's the penetrating story on the struggle for political power, detailed by John Gunther, one of this generation's best-known reporters. This is the first of four articles on the Democratic Party, written exclusively for NEA Service and The Victoria Daily Times.

The greatest single, overriding advantage the Democrats have in the campaign about to be fought, with no holds barred, is the fact that the balance of power between the parties has changed drastically, with the result that the Democrats are now apparently the majority party in this country, not the Republicans.

Truman Enters Army Hospital

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—President Truman entered the army's Walter Reed Hospital today for a check-up.

The president was stricken with a mild virus infection on Sunday. It had been described by his aides as not serious, but all his appointments had been canceled this week.

Press Secretary Joseph Short told reporters the president may remain at the hospital for "two or three days."

The virus infection, Short said, has been pretty much cleared up. He said Truman's fever "has gone."

White House reporters could not recall that Truman ever entered a hospital for as long as two or three days since he became president more than seven years ago.

The greatest single, overriding advantage the Democrats have in the campaign about to be fought, with no holds barred, is the fact that the balance of power between the parties has changed drastically, with the result that the Democrats are now apparently the majority party in this country, not the Republicans.

Recent Gallup polls are illuminating. The Democrats can expect to poll 39 per cent of the total vote in 1952, and the Republicans 34 per cent.

Independents—people who say they have no party choice—make up the remaining 27 per cent and will obviously decide the issue.

In 1948, the independent vote went 37 per cent Democratic, 43 per cent Republican. But a poll taken in March, 1952, upped the Republicans (among independents) to 45 per cent, while the Democrats dropped to 36 per cent, with 19 per cent still undecided.

Even so, to win, the Democrats will need to take only six million independent votes on the basis of an estimated total electorate of 55 million. The Republicans must take nine million.

Figures, like delegates, are not very fixed objects. They may change radically between now and November. The impact of a fresh, glowing personality like Eisenhower might make millions of voters move about. The Democrats don't know who their own candidate will be, and quite possibly he will be somebody very weak.

So unprecedentedly fluid is the whole political picture and so uncertain is the long-run future that I heard one esteemed specialist say, "No matter who gets in, he will be a one-term president."

The second great advantage the Democrats have, according to their own special view, is that the country is prosperous, most people are getting along fine, and the average voter is better off than he has ever been before. Hence, he is going to vote for the status quo. So reason the Democrats.

PRINCIPALS IN LOGGERS' STRIKE MEET

Sloan Commences Mediation Here

Principal negotiators for both sides involved in B.C.'s woodworker strike were meeting with Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan at the Victoria Court House this afternoon to seek common ground for settlement of the 32-day-old tie-up.

I.W.A. district president, J. Stewart Alsbury, was there to speak on behalf of the 32,000 union members involved. He and other members of the I.W.A.'s negotiating committee were tied up most of this morning at a meeting with union policy committee members.

The meeting was held in the board room of the Douglas Hotel.

John M. Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., Vancouver, negotiator for the 162 operators concerned, was attending the mediation meeting as management spokesman.

Chief Justice Sloan was asked by the I.W.A. to act as mediator last week-end. Operators agreed to ask him to do the same at a meeting Monday.

Meantime in Vancouver, leaders of B.C. salmon fishermen and representatives of cannery operators were meeting again in an effort to iron out their fish-price dispute.

DEADLINE CLOSE
The fishermen's deadline for taking strike action is only three days away.

Higher wages and continued fish price levels are the issues involved.

There was nothing new to report on the strike-bound construction scene. Contractors and striking carpenters and painters have made no attempt to resume negotiations.

POLITICAL PICTURE AT A GLANCE

W. A. C. Bennett chosen Social Credit party leader.

Prepares to form cabinet if called on by Lieutenant-Governor to be premier.

Outlines 13 points indicating first steps Socred government would take.

Premier Johnson declines statement on just when he will resign and recommend new government.

Recount starts Monday in Saanich; pending in Burrard and Similkameen to determine if Socreds will keep their 19-18 lead over C.C.F.

Final election writs due July 31.

NEW B.C. CABINET TO IGNORE ISLAND

Novel Situation Brought About Through Failure to Elect Social Credit Member

For the first time since Confederation, Vancouver Island will not be represented in the new cabinet of British Columbia—providing Social Credit leader W. A. C. Bennett forms the new government as expected.

The reason is simple—Vancouver Islanders elected four Liberals, five C.C.F. members and one Conservative—no Social Crediters.

It has no candidate available for cabinet posts.

The probable cabinet which Mr. Bennett would form became a source of great speculation today because none of the Social Crediters except himself and Mrs. Rolston has ever sat in the Legislature before. One, in fact, R. O. Newton of Columbia, has never been in Victoria.

In previous governments, leaders have always attempted to distribute cabinet posts at least in some way conforming to the geographical nature of the province, so that each section—the north, the Kootenays, the Okanagan, Vancouver and the Island, would have a voice on the executive council, if possible.

Choosing his cabinet will be quite a job for Mr. Bennett. For one thing, he hasn't got a lawyer in the House for the post of Attorney-General. He intimated today he may have to go outside his elected members to secure a lawyer for the job, but this isn't settled. Such an appointment might be given House membership in a by-election.

There is nothing in the B.C. constitution that says the attorney-general must be a lawyer, but by custom and tradition it has been accepted he should be.

He is nominal head of the legal fraternity and heads the crown's law officers.

Mrs. Tillie Rolston of Point Grey is considered certain for a Socred cabinet post, probably education, because of her 11 years' experience in the House.

OTHER PROBABLES
Lyle Wicks, president of the Social Credit League, a bus driver, and Eric Martin, vice-president, a chartered accountant of Vancouver, are probably certain bets. Mr. Martin might be finance minister.

R. E. Sommers, school principal of Castlegar, who won the Rossland-Trail seat, is expected to get a cabinet post as is J. A. Reid, a logger and miner, who took the Salmon Arm seat. Mr. Reid was the first president of the Credit League in Alberta, where he preceded the late Premier William Abernethy of Alberta.

At least one of the three ministers, Rev. P. A. Gagliardi of Kamloops, Rev. C. W. Parker of Peace River, or Rev. Harry Francis of Similkameen, may go into the cabinet. Rev. Mr. Francis is a former Victorian. His parents live here.

He doesn't intend to come to Victoria until called on to form a government.

Premier Byron Johnson today declined to give any indication as to when he will turn in his resignation along with those of his cabinet ministers.

The premier, it is understood, is refraining from making a decision because of the possibility that recounts being conducted in three ridings may change the election picture.

He said he hoped by the time his government is in power B.C.'s strike picture will be brighter, and said he was happy about the choice of Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan as a mediator in the woodworkers' strike.

"This is the testing period in our changing times, and labor and management must realize their responsibilities to their own economic groups," he said.

On liquor, he said a consultation committee probably will be appointed to investigate the whole issue, and he stressed the importance of having local committees to carry out their own surveys.

Asked about his party's monetary reform policy, Mr. Bennett replied: "That is not a factor here. Monetary reform can only be done on a national basis."

He promised a probe of the agriculture industry, to give both the consumer and producer a better deal. He also said his new cabinet will review the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act and the Workmen's Compensation Act.

In conclusion, he said Social Credit does not regard itself as a minority government.

"We look on ourselves as the duly elected government with full power to conduct the affairs of the province," Mr. Bennett said.

To Change Sales Tax; Liquor 'Needs Inquiry'

By GORDON FORBES, Times Legislative Reporter

Premier-designate W. A. C. Bennett, chosen Social Credit leader Tuesday, indicated today he may not call the new legislature into session until early next year.

In an interview with the Times, Mr. Bennett said if he is called on to form a government his immediate task will be to name a cabinet "so we can get the ordinary process of government functioning."

"We will deal with as much as we can without a session," Mr. Bennett said. "A session will only be called if we need additional authority by legislation." Social Credit, he emphasized, wants to bring about stability in government.

Mr. Bennett won the Socred party leadership on the first ballot over four other nominees.

See story on Bennett's career, Page 13.

He was elected by secret ballot at an all-day caucus of the 19 members-elect in the Hotel Vancouver.

His election by secret ballot marked the first time such a procedure has been followed in B.C. political history. Other parties have elected their leaders at open conventions attended by the rank and file of the organization.

The premier-designate's election was made unanimous by his 18 fellow members-elect.

Other candidates for leadership were Peer V. Paynter, S.C.

organizer who failed to take the Revelstoke seat in the election; J. A. Reid, long-time Socred and newly-elected member for Salmon Arm; Thomas Irwin, elected in Delta, and Rev. P. A. Gagliardi, Kamloops.

In his telephone interview with The Times today Mr. Bennett promised the people of British Columbia "a sound Christian government based on truth, honesty, integrity and efficiency."

Salient Socred Policy Outlined

Here are the salient points arising out of the interview with B.C.'s next probable premier:

1. Social Credit will take the compulsion out of hospital insurance, abolish co-insurance and probably reduce premiums.

2. If the I.W.A. and other strikes are not settled before they take office, the Social Credit government will step in and referee.

3. A "further inquiry" will be conducted into the liquor question before anything is done about the recent plebiscite in which the majority of voters voted for sale of liquor by the glass.

4. The Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act will be reviewed immediately by the new cabinet with a view to proposed changes.

5. The Workmen's Compensation Act will be reviewed and amendments recommended in the Sloan Report, may be put to the House.

6. The milk question, dealing with the price paid to producers and the price paid by consumers, will be studied.

7. The new government is opposed to heavy borrowing and, as far as possible, will operate on a pay-as-you-go basis.

8. All public works projects, which have been held up by the unsettled political picture, will be considered on their merits.

9. The existing 50-cent sales tax exemption limit on meals in restaurants will be raised, and the whole sales tax structure reviewed.

10. Increased returns will be sought from Ottawa for the rental of provincial income and corporation tax fields.

11. Because the new government has no lawyer-member, there is a possibility an attorney-general, who is not a member, will be appointed, and a by-election held later.

12. Premier-designate Bennett will not act as finance minister.

13. The new premier will name a full cabinet.

Bennett Will Make Home Here

The new Socred leader said he intends to make a home in Victoria, but will keep the "family home" at Kelowna.

He left Vancouver for Kelowna today after a morning meeting with members and the B.C. Social Credit League executive.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

In a modest way, I'm turning to the arts, though with a brush in my hand they're scarcely "fine." I've been told, and verily believe, that painting is an excellent recreation. It's so complete a change from the humdrum of the everyday job that no matter how much energy or time a person puts into it, the result is refreshing. That, also, I've been told but do not verily believe.

When I gaze at my work in progress, I'm forced to admit I've a long way to go. Somehow brush and paint don't do exactly for me what they seem to do for Churchill. And my rhetorical exhortations to my work aren't quite Churchillian, either, though I've been told "Mr. England" can get off some pretty smoky stuff beyond what comes from his cigar.

No, with a brush I'm not in Churchill's class. Artistically I'm more likely to be hanged than hung. A little sadly I appreciate the fact that I've aimed a bit high by using the Old Boy as my model. Still, hitch your wagon to a star.

Actually there are a couple of other things Mr. Churchill does and I do which don't bear comparison. I've spoken in public, too. But with me it's strictly a one-night stand. My listeners don't have me back. It's no use kidding myself. It isn't that my subject matter and delivery are so good that my audiences dare not run the risk of seeking to repeat perfection. No, my public speaking, like my painting, is a bit too patchy, doesn't run on smoothly enough. Maybe it's because I've never taken a glass of brandy before trying an oration.

Unrecognized

I've done a little bricklaying, too. Up at the lake I built a chimney with more curves than Mae West. But the bricklayers haven't extended to me, as they extended to Churchill, a union membership.

There is, on the other hand, one point at which I'm satisfied that I score over the gentleman in question. Mr. Churchill also swam. It may be sheer egotism on my part, but I like my looks in a pair of trunks better than I like Churchill's. If he'd give me a small headstart, say half a yard for each year's difference in our ages, I think I could take him on a short sprint.

It's probably envy makes me think this way—envy and the contrast in painting ability. In fact, I think I'll drop him as a model.

My painting, I've come to believe, belongs more in the class of the American primitives. If you look closely, though, you'll see a dash of the modernist in it, the way I splash color around with not too much attention to form. It's mildly impressionistic, too. It's my impression that I'm putting the paint on the right places. There's ground for argument there, and I can be persuaded.

If I may borrow one of Audrey's expressions, my work does show dramatic progression. Or is that a musical term? There may be a bit more drama than progress in it, but the latter's inexorable—which seems to be a pretty good adjective to describe a lot of painting.

Seeing the Light

Until quite recently it used to be necessary for artists and connoisseurs to explain exhibits to me. They used to point out that a painting was an expression of the inner thoughts and emotions of the person who produced it. Jack Shadbolt was extremely kind in his patient description of the points he made in his "Caddy" mural, and other people have taken the time to indicate to me which was the painting and which the palette when I've been admiring a palette.

Nobody has to do that any more. I feel that inner surge, that stirring of the turbulent spirit that commits itself to colors. Now, me, I reflect my love for home in my work.

Drive past my place some evening and you'll see what I mean. Don't look at the roof or the upper story of the house. That was done by a professional painter with a spray gun. Just look at the lower section. That's my brush work. Into it have gone my blood, sweat and tears—to coin a phrase.

And tell me if you don't like that haphazard cream tear-drop motif I've used on the lower brown shingles to match the cream of the trim.

WITHIN TWO MONTHS

New Traffic Lights Will Be Three-Color Type

Hard-to-cross intersections in the traffic rush will have new lights within two months if deliveries are made on schedule.

Tenders have been called for eight standard three-color type traffic lights, Robert Doble, city traffic engineering assistant, said today.

Parts are also on order for converting existing two-color lights to three-color types—red, green, and amber.

"We have been promised delivery in two months," Mr. Doble said.

He could give no exact date as to installation, since promised deliveries in the past have sometimes been very late.

"When installed the lights will provide more freedom of movement for traffic, ease present headaches and help lower the accident rate at the intersections."

City council has approved the following locations for installations:

Pandora at Cook, Pandora at Fernwood, Broughton at Douglas, Broughton at Government, Douglas at Bay, Cormorant at Douglas, Government at Bay and Humboldt at Government.

VOTE RECOMMENDATION
WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Fifty-three Democratic congressmen today urged a plank in the Democratic party platform calling for a law that would let the people, instead of national convention delegates, name presidential candidates. The congressmen recommended that presidential candidates of all parties be selected by voters in nationwide presidential primaries.

P.G.E. Link With C.N. In Tentative Stage

New Northlands Freight to Flow South
As Soon as Steel Reaches Prince George

By GORDON FORBES

Routing of northern B.C. and Alberta traffic down the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Squamish will be practical as soon as the P.G.E. extension to Prince George is completed at the end of August.

Tentative verbal arrangements for interchange facilities at Prince George have been entered into with the Canadian National Railways, a P.G.E. official said today.

All that is needed now to make the arrangements official is Board of Transport approval for construction of a temporary P.G.E. terminus on the east side of the C.N. Bridge at Prince George.

The P.G.E. interchange track will be on a portion of the C.N. right-of-way.

FINISH CLOSE

The 83-mile P.G.E. extension from its present northern terminus at Quesnel will be complete when the Ahbau Creek Bridge is finished. Work on the bridge is at the half-way point. The extension will be the largest new railway line to be completed in Canada for years, and will cost about $14,000,000.

The P.G.E. was incorporated in 1912 largely because the Grand Trunk Pacific, which was building its transcontinental line to Prince Rupert, promised to use the P.G.E. as its link from Prince George to Vancouver, to compete with the C.P.R. and the Canadian Northern.

But after building a few miles, the contractors went broke and the provincial government had to take over the enterprise. The G.T.P. itself ran into difficulties, and, in 1920, was taken over with other enterprises to form the C.N.R.

Included in the combine was the rival Canadian Northern, with a direct route from Jasper to Vancouver (present C.N.R. main line). Hence the P.G.E.'s status as a transcontinental link was doomed.

But there has been renewed interest in the government-owned railroad in recent years because of B.C.'s vast development in which the line has shared.

The 266,000 tons of revenue freight carried in 1950, for example, was an increase of 352 per cent compared with 1939 and, 166 per cent compared with 1929, the peak year of the twenties.

Shorty-Meters Due For Parking Space Hunters in City

Delivery of 120 new parking meters is expected within a month, Robert Doble, city traffic engineering assistant, said today.

Of that number, 40 are 12-minute meters—a type new to Victoria.

"They are designed to enable persons to make brief calls and will provide a quicker turnover of parking spaces," Mr. Doble said.

"They are an automatic type in that there is no handle to wind after the coin is inserted," he added. "They are of a different shape to existing meters and are painted aluminum instead of green."

Parking spaces near various busy business intersections will get some 12-minute meters. They will also be placed outside the new post office.

The additional meters, recently altered traffic regulations, and making of Bastion a one-way street, will all help in solving the city's traffic problems, Mr. Doble feels.

REMAIN — The tanker Rose Mary, first ship to try to reach the outside world with Iranian oil, since Iran took over the British-owned industry, must remain in Aden for another 28 days, a Supreme Court judge ruled today.

Judge Ralph A. Campbell extended until Aug. 14 an injunction detaining the 632-ton vessel in Aden, where she sought shelter in a storm.

During that time the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, ousted from its massive holdings in Iran last year, will prepare an answer to arguments filed today by the ship's master, owners and charterers, who are defendants in the case.

WAR — United Nations infantry Tuesday night fought off a tank-supported Communist attack against a key hill position on the Korean central front.

Allied troops wrested the hill from the Reds last month. Five Red tanks shelled the hill for four hours Tuesday night. Then for two hours Communist troops battled unsuccessfully to reach its heights.

Elsewhere on the front, there were only sporadic patrol skirmishes.

Low-hanging clouds limited air strikes but F-80 Shooting Star jets destroyed 26 supply shelters northwest of Chorwon.

DELAYED — In Presque Isle, Me., the first trans-oceanic helicopter flight in history is being delayed by a weather.

Two "flying windmills" are en route from Westover air force base in Massachusetts to Wiesbaden, Germany. They stopped at Presque Isle, Maine, Tuesday night. The second leg of the flight, scheduled to start this morning, may be held up "at least until late this afternoon and perhaps until Thursday."

Strong headwinds, low hanging clouds and two low-pressure systems on the route to Goose Bay, Labrador, caused postponement of the intended 6 a.m. takeoff.

Lieutenant Clark S. Lampard, of Pittsburgh, navigator on an accompanying air rescue amphibian, said flight planners tried to re-route the helicopter hop via Newfoundland, but this also was abandoned because of adverse weather.

ALONE — In Portland the mother of the famed Pinkham quadruplets is scheduled to leave the hospital today—without her babies.

Mrs. Silas Pinkham, of Standish, Maine, has been declared fit to go home, but her three girls and a boy will have to stay at the hospital until they weigh at least five pounds each. Each now weighs in the vicinity of four pounds.

Mrs. Pinkham will return to Standish, where fellow citizens will vote Wednesday on whether to appropriate funds to build relatively poor Pinkhams a new house.

UNFAVORABLE — An unfavorable balance of trade with Canada has forced Australia to drastically curtail her purchase of Canadian products, James Payne, Australian trade commissioner to western Canada, said in Saskatoon Tuesday night.

Mr. Payne arrived Tuesday for a three-day visit and conference with businessmen and trade officials.

"Australia imported twice as much as she exported during the first six months of this year," Mr. Payne said. "Unfortunately the bulk of her imports were from the United Kingdom, so it now is necessary for her to reduce her purchases from all United Kingdom countries."

Ontario Planning Penal Reforms Following Riot

TORONTO, July 16 (BUP)—Punishment faced 121 inmates of the Guelph reformatory today for participation in a riot two weeks ago but the nature of the reprimand was not disclosed.

Premier Leslie Frost, releasing the official riot report, indicated the province probably would get a new penal institution to separate hardened offenders with no hope of reform, from the juniors. He said this was a direct result of the week-end of destruction.

An amendment to the federal Criminal Code was possible. The report suggested, in effect, that Attorney-General Dana Porter recommend inclusion in the code of a charge of inciting or taking part in a prison uprising, and that the penalty be sentence to an institution other than a reformatory.

Deputy Reforms Minister Col. Hedley Basher said the majority of the 121 inmates would be disciplined for breaking prison rules. A small number, however, would be charged with offenses under the Criminal Code such as arson, malicious destruction and assaulting police officers.

The report, which was signed

Fire Devastates Jasper Lodge

Luxury Resort Demolished; Hotel Official
Burned; Total Lost May Hit $1,000,000

JASPER, Alta., July 16 (CP)—Jasper Park Lodge, reputedly the largest log building in the world, was destroyed Tuesday night by a fire which broke out as guests danced in the ballroom of the Rocky Mountain luxury resort.

One hotel official was badly burned. The fire did not spread to the surrounding bungalows where most of the 500 guests of the Canadian National Railway resort were housed.

Unofficial sources said damage is expected to be between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. Loss of the balance of the tourist season could cost the C.N.R. another $1,000,000, these sources estimated.

The fire broke out in a check-room shortly before 10 p.m. As some one opened the door of the check-room, flames belched out and quickly spread through the log building. Some 200 guests were in the lodge, dancing and playing cards. They made an orderly exit.

The lodge, built some 30 years ago as the centre of a 4,200 square mile mountain playground, was largely given over to dining and recreational facilities. It contained some bedrooms but it was not known immediately whether these had been occupied.

A special train arrived in Jasper this morning from Edmonton, 225 miles east, to evacuate the hotel guests. A C.N.R. official in Edmonton said it was assumed that the hotel operations would be suspended immediately and that all guests would leave as soon as travel accommodations could be arranged.

NEW SOURCE OF CORTISONE

LONDON, July 16 (Reuters)—A cheap and plentiful source of cortisone, rare and expensive hormone "wonder drug" used in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, has been found, the 1951 report of the British Medical Research Council stated today.

Investigations in Kenya showed that one of the most promising natural compounds for the manufacture of cortisone-hecogenin occurred in sisal waste and is still higher concentration in the juice of the sisal plant. It could be easily and cheaply extracted.

manned pumps and hoses to assist the Jasper fire brigade in preventing the fire from spreading to the luxuriously-appointed bungalows which fan out from the lodge, some located only 30 feet from the main building.

Water was sprayed on the bungalow roofs. A light wind blew the flames toward Lac Beauvert, on the shores of which the lodge stood, and away from the guest cabins.

The Courts and the Strikes

THE TIMES REGRETS THAT IT CANNOT share the Vancouver Sun's enthusiasm for the decisions which led to Chief Justice Sloan's acceptance of an invitation to mediate the current timber strike. We think it is very unfair to the Chief Justice on personal and constitutional grounds; we think further that this procedure raises issues of the gravest possible concern to our democracy.

In the last ten years Mr. Sloan has been called frequently from his court to deal with many problems of government and has handled them with superb skill. For months at a time, no doubt against his will, the litigants before his court have been deprived of his services and, instead of placing their cases before five appeal judges, as the law intends, they have been compelled to accept three (since four judges cannot sit jointly) less their verdict is evenly split. In this process of robbing the court to serve the other departments of the state the Chief Justice has been greatly over-worked with very small extra financial reward.

All this is unjust to Mr. Sloan, the individual, and must be extremely disturbing to Mr. Sloan, the jurist. For he, with his unequalled legal knowledge, must know better than anyone else that these arrangements strike, at the root of the whole judicial system.

The courts are established as the third vital organ of society in complete independence of the legislature and the executive. They are not to be involved in any fashion with the making of the law or its administration. They must only interpret the law which the legislature makes and consider the decisions of the executive in the administration of it only from a legal standpoint. It is not the business of the courts to consider for a moment whether a law is good or bad but solely whether it is legal and the acts taken under it constitutional.

But when governments in British Columbia and other provinces constantly remove judges from their courts to do work outside then inevitably they involve the courts not only in the drafting of laws but in political decisions. Judges thus used actually construct a law, by means of a royal commission report, and then must litigate the laws they have, in fact made—a direct denial of the basic principle of our law.

Moreover, when they perform such political tasks as the settlement of strikes and legal cases arise out of these settlements, directly or indirectly, the judges no longer are ruling on the acts of others, as the legal system intends, but on their own acts. They become in fact legislators, then executives and then judges. Instead of being strictly separated, for the protection of litigants, the functions of legislation, administration and litigation are merged. This is not the fault of judges but of government.

Mr. Winch and the Constitution

MR. WINCH'S LATEST THEORY OF the constitution is entirely new to us. He says that Premier Johnson has no right to recommend a successor until the last vote in the provincial election has been counted or recounted. It would be unconstitutional, says Mr. Winch, for Mr. Johnson to lift a finger or make way for a government capable of governing before every detail of the ballot has been completed.

Where Mr. Winch learned this theory of the constitution we do not know. His long experience and deep study must be respected but his present opinion seems to find no support in constitutional history.

As that history shows, a prime minister can resign at any moment, before, during or after an election. For any reason which seems good to him he can remove his own government and recommend a successor. Moreover, he can decide himself, without reference to anyone, whom he shall recommend to form a new government. He does not have to wait for the last votes to be counted. In Canada federal and provincial governments, obviously defeated at the polls, usually resign immediately without knowing how the last votes have gone and without waiting for local recounts.

The prime minister is bound by only one consideration. Has he the support of the legislature or not? And if not, who has that support? His advice to the Crown must be based solely on the answer to that question.

For Mr. Johnson, in the chaotic circumstances of the recent election, the question is not easily answered. He knows that he has not the support of the legislature and therefore must resign. He also knows that no other party of itself has the support of the legislature, each party being a minority. He is thus concerned with the question whether any party, with the support of others, ments that involve them in work for which the bench is not intended.

There is another danger in this abuse of the courts. If labor disputes are to be settled by judges we shall begin the establishment of what will presently be a kind of tacit labor court with power to decide what wages shall be paid; and if courts can decide what wages shall be paid they must also have the power, in common justice, to decide what profits shall be paid. In place of the market an individual will settle the economic relationships of society.

Once that occurs economic problems such as wages and profits will be solved by the state itself, through the agency of its courts, and economic decisions will become political decisions, depending not on the economic facts, not on the value of the worker's services or the industry's usefulness in society but on the matter of votes which one group or another can control. In short, when the state controls wages and profits and fixes them to suit its political convenience we shall have established the basic apparatus of totalitarianism.

It is a very different matter, of course, when both sides in a labor dispute decide to abide by the decisions of a chosen arbitrator. Both agree to accept this particular decision but they have not surrendered the future right to settle their differences between themselves, if necessary by the use of the strike. If they are bound to accept decisions of such tribunals in all cases then the labor unions are destroyed for all practical purposes and the employers become the tools of the state. No wise labor leader or employer will agree to any such system because both know that their welfare depends upon the existence of a free, competitive society.

Again, if the state undertakes to settle strikes by edict how is it to enforce its decisions without coercion? The government of British Columbia has been unable even to enforce the primary provisions of its own labor law in the case of the timber strike.

Finally, how extraordinary and ironical it is when a labor union has breached the law, the Chief Justice of British Columbia is called in to condone an illegal act and by his very presence to justify the abuse of the law which it is his sole duty to enforce.

One of the first principles of law is that a litigant must come into court, as the saying goes, with clean hands. When he has broken the law he cannot seek the protection of the court. It is grossly unfair to the Chief Justice to ask him to ignore this principle in a strike when he would never admit it for a moment in his court.

The timber strike should be settled between the operators and the unions, by arbitration or otherwise, as they agree. The courts should not be involved in it through the involvement of their most distinguished figure.

can form a government which the legislature will support.

His duty is to recommend that the party which can command this support shall be called to office. It does not follow that the largest group in the legislature necessarily should form the government for that group perhaps may be unable to secure the support of other groups and hence cannot hope to govern. Can the C.C.F. secure a majority in the legislature from among its own members and others? Or can the Social Credit party do so? That is the only question which concerns Mr. Johnson.

The answer will not necessarily depend on whether Social Credit or the C.C.F. has the largest elected group. It cannot be settled by a margin of one, two or three members between these two parties, but only by their probable position in combination with other parties in the legislature. It was these considerations which, in the classic Canadian case of 1925, maintained Mackenzie King's government in office even though it returned from the polls with far less members than the Conservatives, because the Liberals could govern with the support of the Progressive party.

In ordinary circumstances a defeated prime minister, seeing no clear legislative majority for any other party, would consult other party leaders and discover whether any one of them could govern with support from the cross benches. In our present extraordinary circumstances Mr. Johnson can consult Mr. Winch and Mr. Bennett.

Meanwhile Mr. Johnson is entitled to await the final count of votes but he is not bound to do so. He can resign today if he feels able to tell the Crown that some other party leader can form a viable ministry. When the province is in a state of political paralysis and a growing state of economic paralysis as well it is to be hoped that Mr. Johnson will feel able to act without much more delay.

IF ANY MAN IN CANADA LOATHES communism more than Mr. Drew, we have not heard of him. But, curiously enough, the communist party of Canada, (which calls itself Labor Progressive, being the enemy of both labor and progress) is supporting Mr. Drew's basic economic policy of restricted exports.

Mr. Drew has been demanding in Parliament that the government restrict the export of Canadian raw materials to the amounts required by our customers for their defence purposes and their normal needs. Now the communist party publishes an advertisement making the same demand.

The motives of Mr. Drew and the communists, of course, are not the same. Mr. Drew thinks that by making itself more self-contained economically Canada will increase its prosperity and its freedom. The communists do not wish our materials to go to the United States because there they will be used to build up American power and defeat freedom.

The communists, however, see a little further in this matter than Mr. Drew. They know that abundant trade, the opposite of Mr. Drew's protectionism, means abundant prosperity for all its participants. They know that if Canada cannot export on a huge scale the whole underpinning of its national economy will collapse—and collapse in any free country is the main objective of all communist policy. It is hardly too much to say, indeed, that when the Canadian communists sponsor any policy, that is the last policy the nation should follow. Perhaps communist support—which is the last thing Mr. Drew asks or desires—will make him think again about his own policy.

Another Cinch in Alberta?

BY BASIL DEAN

Condensed from Saturday Night

THE people of Alberta will shortly go to the polls and re-elect the Social Credit party for another five years.

The party, which first Aberhart and then Premier Ernest C. Manning has led and dominated in the westernmost of the Prairie provinces for the past 17 years, could conceivably be defeated by one of the following contingencies:

1. A major political scandal, though there's none brewing at the moment.

2. The sudden disappearance, before the election, of Alberta's billion-dollar proven oil reserves and eight trillion cubic feet or so of natural gas.

3. An announcement by the federal government that it would not interfere, and would raise no constitutional issues, if Alberta decided to put Social Credit into practice or decided to print provincial treasury scrip and pay the long-promised (and long-forgotten) monthly "dividend."

Social Credit was first elected in Alberta by promising to carry out a Social Credit program. It has survived, in a state of remarkably good health, principally by abandoning its original platform (except for occasional lip-service at special times like the annual party conventions). It has behaved instead with rigorous and usually highly judicious orthodoxy. For a party which once spent most of its time denouncing international finance in singularly personal terms, it has been acting in recent years uncommonly like a government made up entirely of bank managers.

When Mr. Manning, in his capacity as provincial treasurer, presented his budget for 1952 a few weeks ago, he pointed out with justifiable pride that the first budget introduced by a Social Credit administration envisaged gross revenues of $22 million and had to service a funded debt of $168 million—nearly eight times the government's annual income. The 1952 budget, on the other hand, envisaged revenues of $110 million and the funded debt was down to $98 million, or approximately ten months' income. The deficit of high Tories, the most stiff-necked Republicans, could scarcely have asked more.

This metamorphosis began taking shape after Social Credit had survived its first term, and Alberta had survived the drought years and the depression. It was, however, considerably accelerated by the discovery of oil at Leduc in 1947. By this time, evidently, the party's leaders had discovered that not all prominent business and financial men in eastern Canada and the United States were equipped with horns and tails.

And in any event, if international finance (or that part of it which held the purse-strings of the oil industry) was to be attracted to Alberta so that the provincial government could collect its 12½ per cent royalty on sufficient quantities of oil, an accommodation had to be made. The resulting oil-lease policy which has governed exploration in Alberta is widely regarded in the oil industry as enlightened, although it compels the industry to contribute roughly a third of the province's annual budget.

Social Credit has, in fact, become a doughty champion of free enterprise in almost every form.

The Manning administration is, and generally behaves like, a government elected principally by the rural vote. By and large, it does not concern itself with its standing in the province's two principal cities, Edmonton and Calgary.

Nevertheless, the government does occasionally find itself on the horns of a dilemma. The three-year-old gas-export controversy, for example, has been resolved for the time being by a cautious decision to permit the export of some gas to British Columbia from undeveloped fields in the Peace River region. Only those smaller towns lying on existing pipeline routes into Edmonton and Calgary are at present supplied with gas, and the rest hold strongly to the belief that no gas should leave the province until they are so supplied. On the other hand, areas lying near proven gas reserves are anxious to see them developed, while some members of the government, it is believed, would like large-scale export as a source of more easy revenue in the form of royalties.

The government felt it expedient a couple of years back to legalize the sale of liquor by the glass in a handful of well-established clubs under restrictions written into new legislation. Club members could not take the same guest to their club more than 14 times a year; every time they did take a guest, they must enter his name, full street address and occupation in the register; and no club could give a license unless it had been open continuously, and serving regular meals to its members, for at least three years.

In the campaign now warming up, Social Credit is opposed by three groups plus a few maverick independents. The opposition in recent years in the legislature has consisted of two C.C.F.s and two election upsets. Liberals, The Progressive Conservatives, who have been out of provincial politics for some years and who have never held office in Alberta, have decided to run a small number of candidates.

The three groups will oppose the government on widely differing grounds. The C.C.F. will demand, principally, that oil be developed "for the benefit of the people" and not, as they allege it is being developed at present, for the benefit of the industry. The Liberals seem disposed to make a big thing out of the decision to export any gas at all, in the belief that this criticism will win them rural votes. The Progressive Conservatives hope to capitalize on Calgary's strong P.C. tradition and, in general, will argue that Social Credit has not governed Alberta well. One of its candidates has already launched a strong and bitter attack on Premier Manning's religious activities, which he claimed were being improperly used for political ends.

The most, probably, that any of the opposition groups can hope for is a reduced government majority. Meanwhile the government, as before an administration facing an organized opposition in the outgoing legislature of only five members out of a total of 57, behaves with unruffled calm.

One Down and One to Go

As Our Readers See It

ANOTHER FOR TILLY

As one who has believed in the underlying principles of Social Credit and as our political situation is undergoing drastic changes, may I suggest that Mrs. Tilly Rolston be drafted for leader of the new government and therefore with the office of premier.

A. CAROLYN BAYFIELD,
2585 Lansdowne Road.

WHO'S AFRAID OF WHAT?

While not many people will have much sympathy for the big lumbering concerns because of their greedy raising of prices to such an extent as to price themselves out of the market, yet there are thousands of smaller people, including small operators, innocent employees, and the general public, who are suffering badly from this present strike. It seems rather extraordinary, to say the least of it, that the government refuses to take any action towards ending it. Surely, if it is illegal, and the government admits its illegality, the logical answer is to prosecute the union leaders. Who's afraid of what?

E. W. ABRAHAM,
1125 Faithful Street, Victoria, B.C.

RENT CONTROL

Amongst the many things our late government neglected to do was to abolish rental controls. There seems to be no rhyme or reason why we should be still saddled with this wartime measure. Certainly it does not give the landlord any incentive to keep his property in first-class condition, nor his suites up to standard.

Many tenants would like to pay higher rentals for modern, clean and livable accommodation but are handicapped by this wartime regulation. Could it be that the rental control office in Vancouver exists to furnish a few personnel with good jobs? As many of the American states have long ago done away with rental controls, it is high time we did the same.

PROGRESS,

OPEN LETTER TO THE PREMIER

Dear Mr. Premier: You have never laid eyes on me. To my knowledge, I have never seen you either. I am a complete nonentity.

And what, you may ask, can such a nonentity have to say to the premier of the finest province in the Dominion?

First, I am very sorry you have to leave us—politically, that is—although for your own sake I am glad. Public office is a thankless business and you can have had but little peace these last few years. I have always sensed, in the same subconscious way that millions sensed it about the late King George, that you are a good man. The fiery and oft-times intolerant and bitter Harold Winch recognized this. To his everlasting credit, he even said so during the election campaign.

You did not need to abandon all the valuable business connections you had painfully built up over the years. But you did it when you took office. You did not need to withhold from publication, during the election, the favorable position of the Hospital Insurance scheme. But you did so, believing it to be right to quote facts only and not estimates. These things are only straw, but they and many others tell a lot about the wind that has blown them.

Second, I want to thank you for what you have done for me—not for me, as me, but for me as a British Columbian. Your successors will take credit for the future magnificence of which your administration has done so much to lay the foundation. That is the way of politics and will not, I think, trouble you greatly. But I do believe that the B.C. Hospital Insurance scheme will grow and prosper and that you will be remembered as its chief architect.

And now, Mr. Premier, get you to your home, your good wife, your garden, books, music, travel and any of the multitude of activities that help to make life so good. You have well and truly earned them all.

God bless you. May good fortune attend you. Again, many thanks and farewell.

A NONENTITY.

FOR TOURIST DOLLARS

May I refer just briefly to the letter of Mr. E. F. Watherston in your issue of Friday, July 11? Your correspondent informed us the sermon of a canon of the Church of England recently dealt chiefly with the proposed building extension of the Christ Church Cathedral here in Victoria. Mr. Watherston tells us the Rev. Canon spoke of the great beauty of the building as it is, and, to him, still greater beauty when the addition is completed; and he stressed the attraction this edifice will have, as he viewed it, in drawing paying tourists to Victoria.

In short, both the canon and Mr. Watherston stress only the money-getting, the tourist attraction, which is looked for in the building of this to be "great" cathedral. With the secondary consideration—"the Glory of God"—added as an after-thought of little moment.

L. J. PEPPER,
4010 Grange Road.

ARE YOU LISTENING CLAUDE?

Maybe if the City Fathers read this they might wake up, pronto.

First, we all know that a carelessly thrown match or cigarette end will instantly start fires. So why leave all that dried grass, weeds, so long after the delayed cutting? Its slipperiness might easily cause pedestrians to fall, and sue the city for damages. Besides, it's the most untidy mess.

As for board sidewalks, one of the worst and most dangerous is in the 118 block on Montreal Street. There is too much traffic for folks to walk on the roadway, so we either rip our shoes on protruding nails or tip up the opposite ends as we venture on foot upon those disgraceful, worn-out boards.

Like the stinking Causeway, until a few hundred persons kick up a big commotion, nothing will be done about these blotches upon the landscape. Why spend thousands and even dream of spending more, until the necessary jobs are done first?

MRS. KELSEY,
224 Superior Street.

Advantage for Eisenhower

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP
From Chicago

EVEN in the jubilant aftermath of Gen. Eisenhower's triumph, the bitterness still filled the Republican convention hall. Although Senator Robert A. Taft was a wonderfully good sport about it, the rank and file of the Republican Old Guard are taking their resounding defeat as badly as possible.

For the first time a Republican candidate has been nominated without any compromise or deal with any Old Guard faction or group, and that basically is why the bitterness is so great. These reporters would venture the opinion that this very fact is one of the greatest advantages Eisenhower carries into his campaign for the presidency.

Most people think the envenomed fight here has hurt the Republican party by displaying its divisions. These reporters would argue, rather, that General Eisenhower's candidacy has been helped by the public spectacle of the whole Republican Old Guard angrily fighting Eisenhower, by fair means and foul, and every step of the way.

STORY OF THE PAST

The reasons for this heretofore view are contained in the story of the past, and in the picture of the national Republican party that this convention has offered.

From 1940 onward the Republicans have offered the country moderate, progressive candidates—"me too" men and "leftists" in the language of the Old Guard. But in 1940, in 1944 and in 1948 these moderate, progressive Republican candidates were invariably forced, for many reasons, to compromise, to fudge, to mumble and to be insincere, because of the surviving Old Guard power in the party.

NOT ME TOO ENOUGH

Take the case of Dewey in 1948. He lost, say the Old Guardsmen, because he ran a "me too" campaign. In fact, he lost because of the farm vote. Dewey lost the farm vote and lost the election because, if you like, he was not "me too" enough.

The plain truth of the matter is that the Republican Old Guardsmen have been like large, elderly albatrosses around the neck of each successive Republican candidate. Among the broad masses of American voters they have consistently aroused the fear that the Republican party's return to power will mean a return to the smug reaction and the suicidal isolationism that marked Republican party policy in the 1920's. Eisenhower, the Republican candidate nominated over the Old Guard's united opposition, is the first of the party's nominees to enter the lists with no albatrosses.

Here, in the convention, there has been visual proof that this is so. This convention has revealed a lusty, sane and realistic Republican party whose existence would hardly be suspected by any one watching the misleading conspicuous antics of the Neanderthal Republicans in Congress.

By an accident of political geography the Republican Old Guardsmen and extremists are over-represented in the Congress, and especially in the Senate. Here, in Chicago, the right-wing Congressional Republicans have been in Senator Taft's corner, almost to the last man. But we have also seen here no less than 25 Republican governors, most of them young, but vigorous and progressive, representing a grass-roots Republican party quite different from the often-sorry party the Congress shows. And of these governors, no less than 22 have been in the general's corner from the start.

NOT NECESSARILY MINORITY

No party that can muster 25 such governors is necessarily a minority party. Their mere existence implies that the Republicans can carry national elections, if Republican national candidates will only tackle national elections problems in the spirit of these governors tackling their state problems. And developing and insisting upon this kind of a campaign is now the great problem confronting General Eisenhower.

Every kind of fudging and dishonesty, every kind of shrillness and cheap appeal, will now be urged upon him as good politics. He is inexperienced as a campaigner, and he may fall victim to these false advisers as others have before him. But let him stand forward for what he is—a great American, humane, sensibly but not venomously conservative, broad in vision, speaking for honesty, fairness and large-mindedness in government. And then he will win—Copyright, 1952, New York Herald Tribune Inc.

Bossie's Family Tree

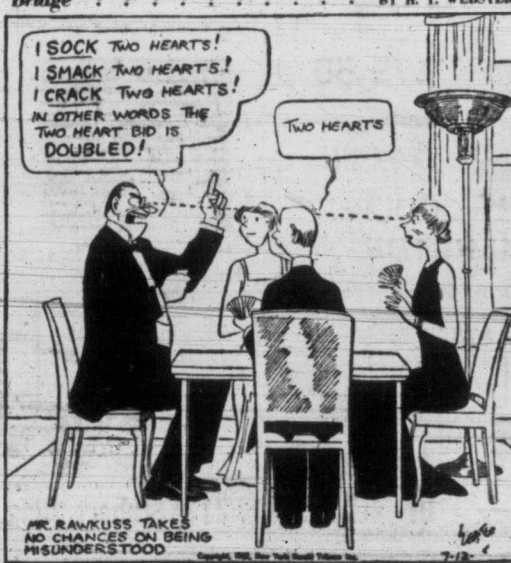

Edmonton Journal

An American zoologist has produced a new answer to an old question which has long puzzled scientists and historians: where did domestic cattle come from originally? He claims that they had their origin in the jungles of Indo-China, and were descended from the kouprey, a breed of wild cattle still found in those regions.

This will probably start a sharp controversy among naturalists. In the past, several rival theories have held the field. One school of thought holds that the barnyard cow first made its appearance in Europe through the domestication of the aurochs or European bison, an animal not unlike our own buffalo. Others claim that it was the ancient Egyptians who first domesticated cattle, while others would give the credit to the Babylonians or the ancient peoples of India.

If it could be proved that Indo-China was the original home of domestic cattle, that country would be entitled to take the place of honor in the history of agriculture. It is fairly well established that it was thereabouts that poultry was first raised. If the ancient Indo-Chinese also originated cattle-raising, they probably did more than any other people to populate the barnyard.

New Naval Appointments

Two Victoria men are included in three senior officers of the Royal Canadian Navy's supply branch who have received new appointments. Capt. (C) Rupert A. Acting-Capt. (S) Henry A. McCandless, C.D., centre, also of this city, who has been naval secretary and secretary to the naval board since July 1 of 1950, has been appointed supply officer of Pacific Command and manager of the supply department in H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt. He will succeed Capt. (S) Charles P. Dillon of Montreal, right, who has held the latter post for the past two years, and who has been named command supply officer on the staff of the Flag Officer Atlantic Coast.

TRIBUTE EARNED

Mayor Praises Sane Control Of Cemeteries

Retirement of $29,000 debentures by the Board of Cemetery Trustees of Greater Victoria was observed at a Union Club dinner Tuesday night, at which board chairman John Worthington, former city alderman, was host.

Mr. Worthington, who has been on the cemetery board since 1928, gave a resume of its history and paid tribute to the spirit of co-operation which had existed between Saanich and Victoria members.

Mayor Claude Harrison, in reply, said: "It is a great asset to a city to have a board such as this. It has never given us a moment's trouble. I wish they were all like this."

With Mr. Worthington on the board are ex-alderman R. A. C. Dewar, of Victoria; ex-alderman Ed. Williams, of Victoria; and George Austin, John Oliver and L. H. Passmore, of Saanich.

Guests at the dinner included board secretary John Treloar; auditor, Harold Craven; Ainsley Worthington, Seth Halton and Stuart Keate.

LONDON (CP).—What will be done with surplus atom bombs has been disclosed by Lord Cherwell, director of Britain's atomic energy program. They can be used as a source of industrial power if the international situation improves, he said.

TENANTS HURLED STOVE AT LANDLADY

TORONTO, July 16 (BUP).—Tenants threw a 65-pound coal stove, complete with burning coals, at a landlady when they were unable to agree on who would use it, a court was told Tuesday.

Miss L. R. Kingston, the landlady, said she received burns from the coals and thought "it wasn't a very nice thing for them to do when they are living in my house."

Magistrate J. Polson agreed, placed tenant Mrs. Marjorie Steel and Wilfred Grignon on suspended sentence, and bound them to keep the peace for one year.

LOUDER.—The State Department in Washington said today the Voice of America will be made a lot louder now that Russians may no longer learn about life in the United States from the magazine America, which has been suspended.

The department said its radio programs beamed behind the Iron Curtain will be intensified by use of new transmitters and the addition of new languages and new features.

It believes this will offset the loss of the seven-year-old Amerika, the magazine which told Russians in their own language about the U.S. It was suspended by the state department Tuesday, after years of squabbling with Moscow.

Steelworkers to Set Policy Monday

PITTSBURGH, July 16 (AP).—The 170-member wage-policy committee of the United Steelworkers Union (C.I.O.) meets in Pittsburgh Monday to decide the union's future course in the state-mated strike that has made 1,500,000 wage earners idle in the last 45 days.

President Philip Murray called the policy committee meeting after a brief negotiating session with the industry ended in a deadlock Tuesday.

Murray and Joseph M. Larkin, vice-president of Bethlehem Steel Corp., issued a joint statement saying both sides agree they can find no common meeting ground on the controversial union-shop issue. There was no indication when another meeting would be held.

N.Y. Police in Hunt For Killer of Girl

Detectives Pose as Collegians in Effort To Track Down Lunatic Who Shot Secretary

NEW YORK, July 16 (UP).—Detectives posing as undergraduates mingled with students today as they searched for a "psychopathic killer" who may be stalking the Columbia University campus.

Fear that the murderer of pretty blonde Eileen Fahey, 18, who was shot to death at the university Monday, may be a madman spurred police to take extreme measures to protect summer session students and university employees.

While at least a dozen detectives continued to question friends, relatives and acquaintances of the slain girl, 25 others searched the campus classrooms, corridors, passageways and sewers for the murder weapon, a 22-calibre automatic pistol.

An undisclosed number of detectives posing as collegians were on the lookout for any suspicious acts by any students or other persons on the campus. They also hoped to pick up bits of information about the murder victim.

Police, baffled by the apparently motiveless killing, were seeking a tall thin man seen leaving the scene of the crime with a smoking pistol in his hand.

The police cast aside the possibility that a disappointed lover fired five bullets into the girl's body as she sat reading one of three letters she had just received from her fiancé in Korea.

"I definitely have not found any trace of a spurned suitor," Deputy Chief Inspector James B. Leggett said. "There are definitely no spurned suitors in the background."

The police concluded that a woman-hating lunatic had made Miss Fahey his target as a symbol of her sex.

DUNCAN, July 16—Arrangements have been made for district farmers to sell their surplus milk to Nanaimo and Victoria at regular prices.

Settlement came about at a meeting between Sunny Brae Dairy directors, Vancouver Island Dairywomen's Association, and A. E. Webb, milk board inspector.

The arrangement is that milk shippers will receive up to $6.90 a can for fluid milk rather than the $2.50 a can they were being paid before.

LADYSMITH, July 16—The log arches that mark the entrance to Ladysmith and tell people that this is the city "on the 49th parallel," will be smartened considerably by application of a new coat of paint. The job will be financed by the Ladysmith Chamber of Commerce.

Steel Supply Situation Critical in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, July 16 (CP)—H. O. Jones, general manager of Vulcan Iron & Engineering Ltd. here, Tuesday said the structural and steel plate situation here is "very critical."

He said a situation is developing which may force layoffs in the steel industry here within two or three weeks unless the supply from the United States is resumed.

Most structural steel firms surveyed here Tuesday said they are digging heavily into their reserves to continue operations.

Officials said the expected shortage will be most seriously reflected in the building industry where structural steel supplies have been so low since the end of the Second World War that heavy reserve stocks have not been built up.

Farm Bloc Discussion

EDMONTON, Alta. (BUP)—The directors of the Farmers' Union of Alberta are meeting behind locked doors in Edmonton for a special conference.

The meeting, which winds up tonight, is believed to have been called by President Roy C. Marler to settle the question of Alberta farm group unity.

The Alberta Federation of Agriculture recently proposed to the union a closer fusion of the two farm organizations, despite the open split now existing between the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union and the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

The S.F.U., under President J. L. Phelps, has withdrawn from the C.F.A. and is spearheading a movement for a western farm bloc to unite "grass-root" farm interests of the three prairie provinces.

However, the A.F.A. proposed to the F.U.A. that the interests of Alberta farmers "would be best served by one strong agricultural body in the province," and offered to take the union in as a direct membership section.

Perform at C.N.E.

CALGARY, July 16 (CP)—The Do-Si-Ettes, square dancing orphans from the Lacombe Children's Home, six miles south of Calgary, will perform at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto Aug. 22 to Sept. 6.

The invitation to the C.N.E., pending for some months, became official Tuesday. Phil Bourque, one of the founders of the Do-Si-Ettes, will fly to Toronto to complete arrangements with C.N.E. officials.

The Do-Si-Ettes, named from a familiar square dance step, "Do-Si-Do and Away We Go," made their first appearance at the Calgary Stampede in 1951. They performed for Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh during the Royal Tour last year and also have given many performances at private affairs.

American Experiment Saved Philippines' Democracy in Crisis

The U.S. "experiment in democracy" in the Philippines, which resulted in independence for the islands in 1946, was practical and successful, according to Dr. R. G. Bose, a member of the Fulbright Commission which recently studied in the islands.

He told members of Victoria Kiwanis Club in Empress Hotel Tuesday that the democratic influence enables the Philippines to resist the Japanese idea of an Asiatic "co-prosperity" sphere.

"They absorbed the ideals of democracy," he said. "They are not a creative people, they are imitative, and they want what the white man has, including freedom and independence."

BREAK SEEN IN TRUCE TALKS AS REDS GET TWO-DAY RECESS

MUNSAN, Korea, July 16 (AP)—The Communists today got a two-day extension of a recess in secret armistice talks, shortly after the Peiping Red radio broadcast an announcement that could lead to a break in the deadlock over prisoners.

The broadcast said Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai announced that Communist China adheres—with certain reservations—to the Geneva Convention of Aug. 12, 1949, dealing with war prisoners.

The broadcast seemed to suggest that the Communists might agree to transfer of Red war prisoners who refuse to go home to a third protective power or a substitute organization such as the all-Swiss international committee of the Red Cross.

Secluded Beach Obtained For Child Cripples' Use

The Pythian Cerebral Palsy Committee of Victoria has acquired for the use of crippled children a secluded Elk Lake beach near the Toby Jug ten rooms. It is open to the use of all crippled children and their families.

Volunteers commence work on the beach's improvement today. Direction signs will be erected.

Meanwhile, first steps have been taken to set up a specific treatment centre in Victoria for the child victims of cerebral palsy.

Working with the Parents' Club, the Pythian committee announces its decision to establish a clinic for temporary treatment for children who otherwise might remain bed-ridden.

Volunteers already have come forward to assist in this work.

JEKYLL-HYDE

Confessed Killer Tries For Freedom

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—William G. Heirens, 23, the Jekyll-Hyde type university student who confessed killing and dismembering a six-year-old girl and stabbing two women to death, started a legal fight for freedom Tuesday.

From his prison cell at Joliet where he is serving three consecutive life terms for the 1945-46 killings, the prisoner mailed a petition to the criminal court clerk. He seeks release or a new trial.

A preliminary hearing on the petition was set for Aug. 7. The appeal is being attempted under the Illinois post-conviction law. This provides a review may be sought if a convict charges his constitutional rights were violated at his trial.

Heirens in 1946 confessed three of the most shocking crimes in Chicago's history. The University of Chicago student signed statements that his victims were little Suzanne Degnan, Francis Brown, 33, and Mrs. Josephine Ross, 43-year-old widow.

Heirens charged he was administered "truth serum" against his wishes before his confessions and that he was subjected to "numerous brutalities and inhuman treatment" after his arrest.

BLUE ISLAND, Illinois, July 16 (BUP)—A trapeze artist fell 75 feet to his death Tuesday night in Blue Island, Illinois, while a crowd of carnival-goers looked on.

Stephen Hegedus plunged to the ground when his descent rope snapped. He was 47 years old.

B.C. Voters Established Record in June 12 Polling

VANCOUVER, July 16 (CP)—British Columbia polled a record vote in the June 12 provincial election.

Final first-count returns under the alternative voting system show the vote was 744,300. Previous record was 698,086 in 1949.

The C.C.F., which elected 38 members, got the largest share of the vote, 30 per cent, compared with 35.1 in 1949. Social Credit, which elected 19 members, got 26.6 per cent. It had only 1.6 per cent in 1949. The Liberals took 24.2 per cent and Progressive Conservatives 17.4 per cent. In 1949 the two old parties, as a coalition, took a total of 61.4 per cent.

Olympic Brass Have Problems

By LEO H. PETERSEN

United Press Sports Editor

HELSINKI, July 16 (UP)—The International Olympic Committee faced some of its most explosive issues in years today as it met to resolve sports problems arising from the political conflict between the east and west.

The fireworks expected at the committee session overshadowed preliminary competition scheduled today in which the United States was to make its first appearance of the games. The U.S. soccer team was an underdog to Italy in a soccer qualification game.

The most thorny situation facing the I.O.C. was created when Nationalist and Red China each demanded permission to compete in the 1952 Olympics opening here Saturday. Both have picked squads for the games but thus far neither has been admitted.

Another tough question was whether East Germany should be permitted to enter a team in the 100-meter dash, which was admitted by the executive committee of the I.O.C. when East Germany refused to co-operate in choosing one team to represent all Germany.

Both East and West Germany had demanded admittance. The West Germans already are here and will compete, regardless of any decision reached at today's meeting.

Because the time is so short, it seemed unlikely that either China or East Germany will compete. With the issue not settled, the International Basketball Federation originally included both Chinese groups in the Olympic basketball eliminations. Later the draw was canceled and then reinstated without either China.

Inasmuch as the eliminations to decide which six teams from 13 nations should join the 10 seeded countries in the basketball championships proper are in the third round, it would not be possible to add either or both Chinese teams to the competition.

Another issue to be settled was whether to award the 1956 Olympic Games to Melbourne, Australia, as originally scheduled. There appeared to be some question whether enough money could be raised to build the various stadiums and sports venues necessary to hold the games.

There also have been criticism from some countries, including the United States, be-

Tribe Puts End To Yankee Jinx

NEW YORK, July 16 (UP)—Rugged Al Rosen, who may go down as the first guy who ever worked the business end of a triple steal with a broken left foot, jubilantly joined his Cleveland boss, Al Lopez, today with a declaration that "the old Yankee Stadium jinx is smashed."

The jinx came after the Indians topped the Yankees, 7 to 3, Tuesday night, moving to within two and one-half games of first place for their fourth victory in five starts in the Bronx ball-yard this year.

Rosen started things off explosively in a two-run first inning when, with the bases loaded and without any instructions to do so, he took a long lead, "decided I could make it and just slid in." The other men on the base paths, Larry Doby and Luke Easter, decided they had a chance, too, and moved up along with Rosen.

WYNN PITCHES DANDY

Rosen got two hits, one a wrong field double, and a walk in a big night for the Indians, which also featured rookie Harry Simpson's third inside-the-park homer of the year, a homer by Luke Easter, and a five-hit pitching job by Early Wynn. Wynn, with a shutout in sight, eased up and was touched for late inning homers by Yogi Berra, his 19th, Joe Collins and Mickey Mantle.

The Red Sox also closed in by topping the White Sox, 7 to 5, and moving ahead of them in third place, four and one-half games out of the lead. The fifth place Senators topped the Tigers, 8 to 2 and 9 to 8, and were five and one-half games out, despite fantastic hitting by Walt Dropo who ran his consecutive string of base blows to 12 to tie an all-time major league record. The Athletics won a pair from the Browns, 7 to 6 and 11 to 5.

GIANTS SHOW GAIN

In the National, the Giants moved to within five games of the idle Dodgers, by topping the Cardinals, 6 to 3, the Phillies drubbed the Pirates, 10 to 3, and the Braves beat the Cubs, also 10 to 3. The Dodgers were rained out at Cincinnati.

LOCKE CAPTURES FRENCH OPEN TITLE

PARIS, July 16 (AP)—Bobby Locke Tuesday added the French Open Golf Championship to his collection with a record 72-hole total of 268.

Locke, who recently won the British Open title, turned in rounds of 69-67-64-68 to finish eight strokes in front of Antonio Cerdia of Argentina, who scored 69-70-69-68—276. Norman Von Nida of Australia finished third with 69-68-69-72—278.

JENNENS REPAIRS ONE OF DAMAGED CANUCK SHELLS

HELSINKI, July 16 (CP)—A four-oared shell of Canada's Hamilton Leander Olympic rowing foursome was fixed up this morning after a round-the-clock repair job by Gordon Jennens of Kelowna, B.C., with an assist from Canadian rowing officials.

Ten minutes after the last screw was tightened the rowers tried out their borrowed craft and returned to the docks satisfied that it would do for the July 20 event. The Canadians had to cast about for a new shell when their boats were damaged beyond use by a storm during shipment.

Jennens, the rowing shell expert who built the boats originally scheduled for the games, was flown over to help the crews get their boats in shape.

GET THE WHIP—COMRADE HAS COMMITTED TREASON

HELSINKI, July 16 (BUP)—At least a half dozen of the Russian track and field squad were caught flatfooted today drinking Coca-Cola.

The Finnish Communist press previously had criticized the Olympic committee for allowing importation of the drink. The Russians turned up in sweat suits at the tennis palace to watch an Italian basketball squad beat Greece.

During half-time, the Russians swarmed around a snack bar and sampled several bottles of the soft drink. A smiling Finnish girl carefully counted out their change. With the change, the Russians began playing happily with a coin-operated candy machine. A few minutes later they were hurriedly rounded up by a team leader and left the arena.

Small Fish Qualify In Sixth Week of Derby

Salmon weighing from a top of 20 pounds down to four and one-quarter pounds held onto rungs in the sixth weekly ladder of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association 10-week competition in Saanich Inlet.

Anglers are now trying for seventh week prizes and for the "big chance" to get on the master ladder to fish for the $3,600 worth of prizes in the Aug. 24 final. To date 240 have made the grade into the fishoff. There will be 400 shooting for the prizes.

Top fish was Cliff Carter's 20-pounder. B. C. Rawley's 17-pounder and Doug Vidal's 15 1/2-pounder were the only other big salmon caught in the latest completed weekly ladder. L. P. Anderson and C. Watling will have to try again. Their entries were knocked off the ladder by four and one-quarter-pound salmon entered by J. C. Lachmund, G. Brewer and C. Robbins.

First Place Contested In Senior Ball League

Chinooks and Farmer Construction are still running mates in the top slot of the senior baseball loop.

They retained this position by posting victories Tuesday evening. Chinooks slaughtered Barkley-Cycles 12-2 at Athletic Park, while Farmers knocked out the Plumbers, 17-4, at Macdonald Park.

Chinooks got to Lloyd Cann for 16 hits. Cycle boys only got five hits from Don McKinnon and Cliff Hume, who registered 14 strikeouts between them.

Playing manager Doug Peden of Chinooks pulled out four hits in five trips to the plate. Rookie Wright and Ed Sheppard got three hits each.

WALKS, ERRORS HELP

Fifteen bases on balls and four errors helped Farmers to build their large score. They got to Lionel Smith for only eight hits. Bill Garner of the construction crew was in trouble once, in the first inning, when Smith and Price of Plumbers knocked out HELSINKI, July 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Urho Kekkonen of Finland has predicted that the stars of the 1952 Olympic games will be Bob Mathias and Mal Whitfield of the United States and Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia.

"I think every Olympic track record, with four exceptions, probably will be bettered here," he said in an interview. "Finland will be lucky to win two championships, the javelin and the marathon."

The four Olympic records that Dr. Kekkonen thinks will stand up are: 100 metres, 10.3, Eddie Tolan, U.S., 1932; and Harrison Dillard, U.S., 1948; 110-metre hurdles, 13.9, W. F. Porter, U.S., 1948; Broad jump, 8.06 metres (26 feet, 5 5/16 inches), Jesse Owens, U.S., 1936; and hop, step and jump, 16.00 metres (52 3/8), Naoto Tajima, Japan, 1936.

FILM REVIEW

TWO FOR THE SHOW

AA (Oscar class). BB (Worthwhile).
A (Don't miss). B (For rainy days).
C (To put in time).
By PHIL LEE

FILMETTES—Victorians will be relieved to learn that Rita Hayworth will perform the famed dance in "Salome" sans (light) John's head. Stewart Granger will be Rita's co-star. The costly Biblical epic will include six specialty acts in the King Herod banquet sequence—a sword dancer, juggler, fire-eater, and a 10-man acrobatic act. . . . Stanley Kramer has just won WHY in a prize of $10,000 for his direction in "The Sniper." . . . Victor Mature will co-star with Jean Simmons in RKO's "Break-Up," the story of a struggling playwright and a successful model. Mature and Simmons teamed before in Gabriel Pascal's production of "Bernard Shaw's 'Androcles and the Lion'."

Wonder if His Worship Mayor Claude Harrison saw the North American premier of "The Promoter" when he attended the mayor's convention in Calgary recently? Based on Arnold Bennett's novel, "The Card," the J. Arthur Rank Studios' effort stars Alec Guinness, Valerie Hobson, Glynis Johns and Petula Clark. For the first time in the British Empire a film premier has also included a demonstration of large-screen television—a fashion show. This happened at the opening of Anthony Asquith's technicolor version of "The Importance of Being Earnest." . . . Rosalind Russell, Marie Wilson and Paul Douglas left Hollywood last Saturday for Fort Lee, Virginia, for three weeks' location at the WAC induction centre to start work on "Never Wave at a Wave." . . . Leon Ames, who has been with the Chicago company of "The Moon Is Blue" for the past year, will portray the defense attorney in "The Murder" which stars Robert Mitchum, Jean Simmons and Mona Freeman. . . . That clever gal actress playwright, director—is it again, Ida Lupino will direct Edmond O'Brien, Frank Lovejoy and William Talman in "The Difference" which RKO Radio will distribute. The story's about a hitchhiker who kidnaps two men and holds them captive for eight days in the primitive country south of the Mexican border. Once again—it's "30."

Victorians Mark 25th Anniversary

A well-known Victorian Chinese couple today are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Lum Young Chow, Shelbourne Street, were married here in 1927. They have a family of nine children, five boys and four girls, and one grandchild born on the eve of their anniversary.

Mr. Lum, 67, a pioneer greenhouse operator, was born in the province of Canton, China. He came to Canada at the age of 16 years.

He first worked in Victoria as a house boy, and served later for a number of years on the Gordon McGregor survey party which mapped out the Cariboo district between 1905 and 1909. He also served with engineers who surveyed the Jordan River area.

Prior to starting a greenhouse business, Mr. Lum worked for two years with the W. A. Jameson Coffee Co., Victoria.

Mr. Lum met his wife in Victoria. Their nine children all attended Victoria schools.

The couple will celebrate their anniversary with a dinner to-night at the C.A.C. Gardens and a private party at their Shelbourne Street home.

ECONOMIC PROBLEMS OF COMMONWEALTH MAY GET AIRING

LONDON, July 16 (Reuters).—Commonwealth ministers are expected to meet in London in November to discuss all aspects of Commonwealth financial, economic and trading problems, a usually reliable source said today.

Robert Menzies, Australian prime minister, during his recent London talks, strongly advocated a Commonwealth conference to discuss currency, trade and development questions.

Soldier, Lawyer, Percy R. Leighton Dies in Hospital

Percival Robert Leighton, prominent Duncan and Victoria lawyer, died at the Veterans' Hospital here Tuesday. He was 71 years old.

The English-born and educated lawyer came to Canada in 1908. He served with machine gunners in World War I and came to Victoria in 1919. He was called to the bar in 1922 and practiced for many years in Duncan.

A member of the Cowichan Board of School Trustees for District No. 65 from 1946, Mr. Leighton was a charter member of the Victoria Horticultural Society and the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society, past president of the Duncan Rotary Club and past president of the Duncan Branch, Canadian Legion.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Lieut. C. M. Leighton, R.C.N., and J. F. Leighton, law student at the University of British Columbia; one daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, Vancouver; three brothers, Arthur, Nanaimo; Rev. J. W. Leighton, Vancouver; Ned in Winnipeg; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Birkett in England and Miss Hilda Leighton, Victoria.

Two sons, Robert Frederick, R.C.A.F., and Lee Percival, in the army, were killed on active service overseas in the Second World War.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Hirst's Funeral Home, Duncan.

Smithers Man Held On Murder Charge

SMITHERS, B.C., July 16 (BUP).—A 25-year-old man, Vernon McWaters, of no fixed address, has been charged here with murdering a 45-year-old roadworker.

McWaters allegedly attacked Lawrence Greco near Hazelton eight days ago, robbing him of $180. Greco died in hospital at Hazelton—last week-end—from head injuries received in the beating.

BARGAIN OLORON, France, July 16 (Reuters)—Farmers from the French slopes of the Pyrenees solemnly led three white heifers to the top of St. Martin pass Sunday and offered them to their Spanish neighbors. The Frenchmen were keeping a centuries-old bargain which requires them to provide the heifers in exchange for the right to pasture their herds in a valley on the Spanish side of the frontier.

Stove Explodes, Man Burned, in Hospital

VANCOUVER, July 16 (BUP).—Norman L. Warren, of Vancouver, is in satisfactory condition in a Vancouver hospital with severe face burns.

Warren was hurt when a small camp stove he was repairing exploded on the back porch of his home. He walked nearly two blocks to the hospital.

Tourists' Calls Indicate Record
A record number of tourists swarmed to Vancouver Island during the past week, latest Publicity Bureau figures reveal. A total of 4,940 visitors called at the bureau's Government Street office during the week ended July 13, reports George I. Warren, city publicity commissioner. Indications are, said Mr. Warren, that July will outstrip the record June total of 9,000 tourist visitors to the bureau.

Canadian Scottish in Germany Rounding Into Fighting Group

11-Col. Walter Mosedale has been assured in a letter from Germany that "the company representing your Victoria Canadian Scottish is fast becoming a true reflection of our unit in wartime, in smartness, on and off parade and as well-trained, hard-hitting fighting men."

These words were part of a message from Capt. Royce Marshall, Victoria, of the Scottish company—"D"—in the Highland Battalion of the special Canuck 27th Brigade in Germany.

For much of this year the highland unit went through a rough-tough grind on the Baltic coast in a training area near a small town called Putlos.

Long, wearisome route marches, platoon and company exercises using live ammunition, night and day schemes, plenty of action with the Bren gun and rifle on the ranges, grenade throwing and rocket-launcher firing were among the features of training.

Charlie Sluggett, C.Q.M.S., came in for a pat on the back from the captain. The writer told of Chuck's fine work during a 60-mile route march—covered in two and a half days, by the way—Dog Company was minus only one man at the conclusion of the trek.

MEALS AWAITING
"At each meal halt the company cooker would be set up and a hot meal ready to be served without any delay. When we arrived at our bivouac areas, C.Q.M.S. Sluggett would have all the pup tents set up for the weary marchers to collapse under," said Capt. Marshall.

"The weather has been fine, but these cobble-stone roads are torture on the feet," he added. While on the Baltic the battalion was billeted in a wartime German Panzer school, fully equipped to train tank men and infantry.

"I'm sure none of us have ever seen such a place before. The quarters are of solid brick construction with double windows. One building alone is large enough to billet four rifle companies, two companies on each floor. The building is nearly twice the length of our Victoria armoury.

"The men slept approximately six to a room—all steam-heated," Capt. Marshall continued.

MUSEUM PIECES
The officers' quarters were equally comfortable, the most unique feature being the doors which had historical scenes depicted on them in inlaid wood. "Each door is reported to be valued at $1,250 apiece, fine museum pieces."

The local Scottish company and other former Scots in the battalion joined with the Royal Scots (Canadian Scottish parent regiment) to celebrate the birthday of Princess Mary.

C.Q.M.S. SLUGGETT

Canucks have been resting at their "home" barracks at Hannover after the long period of strenuous training and will return to the Baltic to another few months of the same July 20, Capt. Marshall said.

He said that a few weeks ago Brig. Brennen interviewed Can. Scots' officers, W.O.'s and sergeants concerning their posting to Canada at the completion of the present tour.

Rob Davis and I have volunteered for another year.

Howard Schoening is going to Regina, Maj. Doug Gillan (O.C. company) to Halifax and Sandy Vye to Calgary," he said, noting that Capt. Vye had left the company to become assistant-quarter-master and welfare officer for the battalion.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

It would be unkind to name the announcer or the station—but on a local newscast yesterday we were told that Queen Elizabeth had missed the wedding of Hon. Gerald "La Skellee."

A certain brand of bread in the United States has a new and intriguing slogan.

It suggests you feed this bread to your children, and watch them grow "eight ways, fast."

Let's see, now.

The arms and legs would grow. That's four ways.

If the ears grew, that would make it six ways.

But EIGHT ways?

No doubt they are referring to youngsters with two heads.

Dr. R. G. "Chuck" Bose, a visiting Kiwanian from Santa Monica, was a member of the Fulbright commission investigating conditions in the Philippines.

He says the U.S. residents there call the male members "Fulbrights," and their wives "halfbrights."

View Royal plans a carnival for Friday evening, to raise funds for a new Sunday School.

This is a commendable project, and I hope the weather is fine, hundreds of people turn up, and that a wonderful time is had by all.

But I do wish the sponsors would not print up placards referring to it as a "Karnival."

The Kute practice of confusing "k" and "c" makes me want to cick someone.

The idea is completely crazy.

There is no use twisting my arm, I will not reveal the identity of the new mystery voice on the radio.

This is because it would not be fair to give it away so soon.

Also because I don't know.

Several friends have sympathized with me because my house wasn't phoned to give me a chance at the $1,000 prize yesterday.

They say that I had the right answer, and it is a pity I wasn't lucky enough to be phoned.

They have forgotten one small detail.

I haven't a phone.

I don't suppose I could sue somebody?

There is a communication to hand from A. J. Worth, Victoria agent for the Toledo Scale Company. Mr. Worth is not suffering from not having a telephone.

He is suffering from having a telephone.

Mr. Worth writes: "Perhaps you do not know when you are well off. I have a business phone which costs between $15 and $20 a month. My number is B5611. The Parliament Buildings is B6111 and two other subscribers have E5611 and G5611.

"The amount of miles I have traveled to answer calls for the house of parliament, and others, is legion."

"Of course, this extra business is free."

"A long time ago the telephone company promised to do something about all these wrong numbers, and they probably will, about the time you get your telephone installed."

Regina's Rainmaker Confident He Can Deluge "Droughtful" Duncan

The Regina Rainmaker, Donald Johnson, wants to come west again. He is offering showers to the Duncan Chamber of Commerce.

The man whose three-day efforts during Greater Victoria's desperate drought last summer failed to produce a rain drop, says the failure was not the fault of his machine.

He takes the full blame himself.

The effectiveness of the machine, he declares, was killed by kindness to its operator.

In a letter to the Duncan Chamber, Mr. Johnson claims Victoria's hospitality distracted him. Besides, he needs 10 days, not three.

He wrote, he said, "to bring to your attention the fact that this rain machine, operating at Regina and known in the three Prairie provinces, is bringing the rainfall that is bringing the Prairies towards a bumper crop year.

This machine can bring rain to your district if operated there under the same conditions that it is operated here on the Prairies."

For a successful season Mr. Johnson needs uninterrupted concentration, without social or publicity side issues.

Given this formula he promises to deluge Duncan.

STORM BIRD FLIES HIGH

Destiny Marks Bennett For B.C.'s Premiership

By LESLIE FOX, Times Managing Editor

One of the stormiest, if not the most spectacular career in B.C. politics reached a new peak with the selection of William Andrew Cecil Bennett of Kelowna as leader of the Social Credit Party, a post that almost certainly carries with it the Premiership of B.C.

Known to his intimates as "Cece" and with the nickname "Wack" (from his initials), the 51-year-old highly successful hardware merchant from the Okanagan has held the spotlight for one reason or another ever since he entered provincial politics in 1941.

He was elected first as a Conservative and in a subsequent cabinet reshuffle which added two Conservative cabinet ministers Bennett was left out.

In June that year he ran against Herbert Anscomb for the Conservative leadership, was defeated 319 to 188. But this was only an incident in his campaign to get to the top in politics.

provincial politics be divorced entirely from the federal parties, and that a new free enterprise "Coalition Party" be formed permanently to oppose socialism.

This got him nowhere, except in the bad books of the Conservative hierarchy.

In the 1945 election his proposal was spurned and while Liberals and Tories ran as Coalitionists, they retained party identities under a special formula of nominations.

Early in 1946 Maitland died and in a subsequent cabinet reshuffle which added two Conservative cabinet ministers Bennett was left out.

In June that year he ran against Herbert Anscomb for the Conservative leadership, was defeated 319 to 188. But this was only an incident in his campaign to get to the top in politics.

DEFEATED IN FEDERAL RACE

In 1948 he resigned his provincial seat and took the Tory nomination in the federal by-election in Yale riding. Here he met defeat again, by D. L. Jones, C.C.F., but bounced right back into the provincial field the following year to regain his South Okanagan seat, running as a Conservative- Coalitionist.

He became a mild thorn in the side of the Coalition almost immediately, was considerably critical of the new provincial sales tax.

By mid-1950 he had decided that a grass roots protest against the top-heavy Coalition was developing in the country and unless something were done about it the socialist C.C.F. would capture the mass vote.

First of all he challenged Anscomb again for the Conservative leadership, forcing a convention in Vancouver. It developed into a bitter internal party fight, in which Mr. Anscomb's wine and beer interests were a focal point. Although Bennett lost, he had established a definite cleavage within the party.

Bennett's next step was his dramatic "declaration of independence"—he called it "disassociation" from the Coalition at the spring session of 1951—with a slashing attack on the administration. He was followed across the floor of the House by Mrs. Tillie J. Rolston, the fiery woman Conservative of Point Grey, who had nominated him for the party leadership back in 1946.

Bennett at that time was toying with the idea of forming an entirely new "Independent" political party.

He saw that, under the new alternative voting plan, there would be many people who had to choose between the on-time parties, but would not want to give second choices to the other; yet would not want to give them to the socialists. He reckoned that a third free enterprise party could pick up a great many of these alternatives and win an election.

CITY THEATRES SURE OF FILM

Victoria movie theatres will be able to continue in operation even if film exchange workers in Vancouver carry out a threatened strike.

A check of theatre managers today revealed steps have been taken to assure an adequate supply of films for showing here although the usual sources of supply might be cut off for a time.

Eight mainland film distribution offices would be closed by a strike. Three other distributing agencies would remain open, however.

Liberal Survivors In B.C. Legislature In Conference Here

The general political situation in British Columbia is being discussed this afternoon at a "caucus" of Liberal M.L.A.'s here.

W. T. Straith, Victoria, said the meeting is just a "private get-together" at which a number of matters will be discussed.

Attending are Mr. Straith, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, E. T. Kenney, Skeena; Reeve P. A. Gibbs, Oak Bay, and Reeve M. E. Sowden, North Vancouver. Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria, is holidaying and unable to attend.

A meeting of top officers of the B.C. Liberal Association is expected to be held in Victoria July 30.

Denman and Belmont, said he started to get up from the pavement, where he had fallen following the collision when the other driver, Peter V. Nelson, 1342 Pembroke, walked over to the car.

Moss said after he told Nelson about the speed, the young driver said: "Yes, I was driving too fast."

The evidence was given at a preliminary hearing of a manslaughter charge against Nelson.

Mrs. Boorman died of head injuries shortly after the collision in which both cars were heavily damaged.

Moss suffered a cracked shoulder blade and bruises.

He told the court he estimated Nelson was traveling at about "45 to 50 miles per hour" as he approached the intersection but on being questioned by Nelson's lawyer, Torrance D. O'Grady, Moss said the speed could have been less.

Moss said he was "in no position to observe that at the time" when asked by O'Grady at what point the impact had occurred.

The lawyer continued to question Moss in detail as to how far Nelson's car was away when Moss entered the intersection.

"If you were as sick as I was," said Moss, "you wouldn't ask me these questions."

Moss said he "couldn't tell" how far away Nelson's car was when he first observed it but added: "If Mr. Nelson was driving at the speed I was (25 to 30 m.p.h.), there would have been no collision."

Eight more witnesses were to be called at press time.

He'd Ban Banners For Empress Hotel

City Council today was asked to reconsider its move granting the Empress Hotel permission to erect a neon sign and cloth welcome banners.

Peter G. Hartnell, owner of Thunderbird Apartments, 600 Douglas Street, said he would withhold a similar application for banners pending council action.

In a letter to the city, he said the council granted the C.P.R. permission contrary to a city by-law. He termed it a "dangerous precedent."

'Cat' Driver's Guard Checks Island Fire

Departure Bay's Settlement Safe After Long Fight

The presence of a "cat" driver in Departure Bay is credited with saving a good portion of the resort settlement three miles north of Nanaimo from being levelled by a bush fire that was not brought under control until Tuesday midnight.

Times reporter Don Ingham reported from Nanaimo today that forest service and logging company crews were patrolling the fire that broke out on an old logging slash at the rear of the settlement and burned over 15 acres before being contained.

James Kindlan, Nanaimo tractor driver and owner, was clearing land about 200 yards from the scene of the fire, believed started by berry pickers.

Immediately on seeing smoke he "walked" his crawler-type bulldozer to the fire and began cutting a fire trail on the down wind side of the fire.

"It was the hottest I've ever seen, and a 35-mile wind didn't help us any," he said today.

B.C. Forest Service crews and members of Departure Bay Volunteer Fire Department answered alarms and laid hose from the beach a half mile distant, using relays of power pumps.

HOMES EVACUATED

Homes of William Lindsay, James Patterson and Jack Winton, in the path of the fire, were evacuated. Flames burned to within 20 feet of one of the homes.

Men, women and children holidaying at the resort helped regular fire crews.

"Best fire I was ever on," one logger said. "The ladies of the fire department auxiliary kept us supplied all afternoon and night with coffee, sandwiches and lemonade."

Meanwhile, forest service officials in Victoria report the main trouble spot in B.C. is in the Prince George area.

Two or three small portable mills have been destroyed in settlements near Prince George, and several families living near the mills' left homeless, an official said. Only fire out of control is at Hidden Lake, 10 miles northwest of the city.

'Hili' Has Won Favor Of Young and Old Alike

By PENNY SAVER

It's Hili time!
 Yet you haven't got a clue what I'm talking about. I don't blame you. If anyone told me it was "Hili time," I'd think they had taken leave of their senses, which I assure you I haven't done.

Hili is a new game!
 I think the intention was to amuse the youngsters with it, but somehow it hasn't worked out that way. The poor child is lucky if he ever gets a chance to play with it.

Hili can be played by one person, which is an advantage in itself. It is a plastic tube into which you drop a ping pong ball, pull a handle which snaps a bar which in turn shoots the ping pong ball out of the tube. The trick is to catch the ball in the tube as it comes down.

You may think that sounds easy. You've got another thought coming. It isn't!

For some reason or other that little ping pong ball seems to hot want to go back into the tube.

It was my nephew's birthday recently so I decided to get one for him as something extra. Naturally I bought it a few days ahead of the day and I'm telling you that I was beginning to worry that it would be worn out by the time I was to give it to him.

Besides myself, everyone else that came into the house had to try it out.

The toy proved its worth though, it was still in one piece and now my nephew has quite a battle on his hands trying to get it away from his father, who like all the others is fascinated by Hili.

With all this build-up you are now probably thinking that Hili costs a fortune. No, Hili is a sturdy toy that will amuse all ages and costs only 59 pennies.

Really something out of the ordinary in this day and age.

When it comes to tartan skirts I wouldn't be the least bit surprised if Victoria rivalled their popularity right in the heart of Scotland.

Since they are so popular you find a great many of the authentic tartans which call for a smart looking pin at the side.

These smart pins are not always so easy to find, and very often when you do find one, its costs a pretty penny.

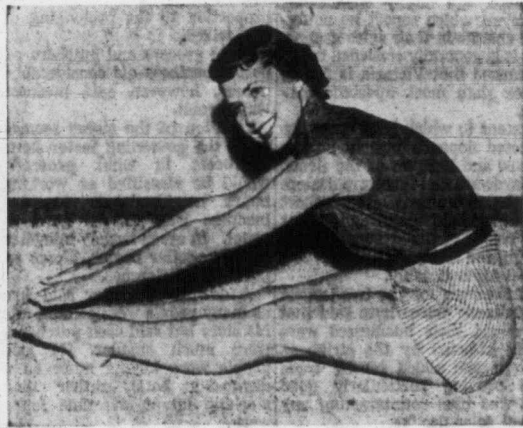

That may be so if you don't have a look around. I've been trying to watch for a bargain in this line for quite awhile now and I think I've found one.

Tht kilt pins are shaped like swords, bayonets or scimitars and are $2.75 each.

They are made right here in Victoria and I know you'll love them.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This exercise will trim the tummy.

You Can Have Flat Tummy; It Simply Requires Exercise

Some people say that clothes make the woman. I think the figure makes the clothes. You can buy a beautifully styled, costly gown but it will fall flat if your figure is not lovely and your posture not stunning. On the other hand even the simplest dress takes on style when adorned with a fine silhouette, gracefully carried.

Many women would have charming figures were it not for a protruding abdomen. This defect reflects neglect in matters of exercise and posture, if not overeating. Often at middle-age women find weight landing on them in new and strange spots. In the past, even when they found themselves with a few too many pounds, their abdomens still remained flat. Then suddenly they discover a pad of fat in that spot.

This due to the fact that women become less active physically by the mid years and their glandular systems slow up. You can still have the flat tummy but you have to work harder for it. Fat is less apt to accumulate over active muscles and you can stretch and exercise that pad away.

This is a good exercise for abdomen slimming: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Raise your trunk and touch your fingers to your toes. Lower trunk and arms to the floor. Keep the knees straight throughout this exercise.

Another and harder version of the same exercise: Lie on the floor with your legs straight. Tuck your toes under a chair or chair or bed. Bend your elbows and place your hands behind your head. Raise the trunk trying to keep your back straight. Do not let your head protrude forward. Lower the trunk to the floor. Continue.

In both of these exercises take time to stretch out against the floor, feeling the pull all through the torso, in between trunk raisings.

If you would like to have my tested abdominal exercises which will take a few inches from that measurement in a few weeks' time send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 "Abdominal Exercises," to Josephine

Wait for This Man: He Has Character

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

When a man marries, he promises to stay with his wife in sickness and in health. This promise holds good when the sick-ness comes from alcoholism. That is why the woman who loves this man should not ask him to divorce his wife.

(Q) "I have been a widow for nine years and am 40 years old. I have three wonderful children, two in the service. I have met a man my age and we are very much in love. His wife is an alcoholic and has just been released from a sanatorium. Inside she's burned out with alcohol and the doctor tells him she won't live much longer. He has four children. The oldest is a girl 17 who keeps house for the family. He has asked me to wait for him as he will not divorce his wife now. What shall I do? Wait for him or forget him?"

(A) — If you love this man, wait until he is free to come to you. It is his responsibility to stay with his wife and take care of her, even if excessive drinking has killed his love and respect for her.

If she is in the last stages of alcoholism, she will not live much longer. Even if she fools the doctors and lives longer than they predict, it will still be worth your while to wait if you and he really love each other.

While teen-age children frequently resent a stepmother, in this case I am sure it will be different. The children of the man you love have had a hard childhood with an alcoholic mother.

Your marriage to this man will take a tremendous burden off the shoulders of the older daughter who has had to be mother and house-keeper. It will give her the freedom to have a good time which other girls of her age enjoy together.

As for the younger children, they too will profit by your coming into their lives. It is hard on them to be taken care of by an older sister who knows little more than they and they will welcome a mother, even if she is a stepmother.

Your own children may find it hard to adjust to a new home, a stepfather, and stepisters and brothers. But, as two of them are already away from home, the situation will not be too difficult. Since you and this man are deeply in love, you should be able to iron out any problem that comes up in your marriage.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

Situation of Women's Employment Discussed at Biennial Convention

VANCOUVER, July 16 (AP)—

Women in employment in Canada was the main topic of discussion yesterday at the 13th Biennial Convention of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss Ruth Hamilton, adviser on women's employment, Unemployment Insurance Commission, Ottawa, was chairman of the panel discussion.

She said age is "almost an imaginary line" in employment of the older worker but admitted the employer has the right to set his own policy in this regard. She stressed that Canada has an "aging population."

Sidelights to the employment-of-women situation across Canada were given by members of the panel, all regional advisers on women's employment.

Atlantic region (Miss M. E. Webster): "Employer resistance to married women is not too great, but opportunities are very limited."

Quebec region (Miss E. R. Cornell): "The situation varies greatly in regard to the policy of the individual company. The small firm is more inclined to test the market and accept the most competent worker. The medium-sized and large companies have a definite age policy and tend to bring in youngsters to offset the older element."

Ontario region (Miss Margaret McFivine): "Employment of married women is related to supply and demand of labor. When there is a shortage of labor, married women are accepted. In Ontario, the situation for employment of women now is much more limited than at any time since before the war."

Pacific region (Miss Eleanor S. Morley): "There is definitely a shortage of stenographers. The question is: are all stenographers' skills being used correctly and does the employer really know what a stenographer is? The em-

English Woman Impressed With Groceries, Roses and Scenery

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

The London-born daughter of a famous English family is a summer visitor in Victoria. Slender, white-haired Mrs. Eva M. Rogers, arrived by plane recently and is staying with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. W. Blyth, Reed Street.

Mrs. Rogers' connection with the internationally famous London firm of Harrod's, is a close one, she having been a Miss Harrod.

Her father, she tells you, purchased the business from his father, who had founded it. It was under this second ownership that the firm of Harrod's became one of the biggest and best known of its kind in the British Commonwealth.

"It is said of Harrod's that they can equip you completely, not only for your entry into the world and all your needs while in it, but will also usher you safely out again," she commented, laughing.

Mrs. Rogers is the youngest in a family that consisted of seven daughters and one son. When at home, she lives a quiet, pleasant life with her retired husband at Bex Hill, Sussex.

They have two sons, one a solicitor and the other Lt.-Col. Rogers who has recently gone to Korea to take up a staff position. Mrs. Blyth is their only daughter.

Asked how they happened to allow an only daughter to escape to Canada, Mrs. Rogers replied: "Well, she married a Canadian. After she met the Canadian officer she wouldn't look at an Englishman!"

DOESN'T LIKE COOKING

Mrs. Rogers admits that, while she likes doing her own housework, she doesn't like cooking. But she is philosophical and says brightly: "I expect I was too old when I took it up."

She couldn't think of a favorite recipe because there are no frills to cooking for the average English housewife these days. "It's a case of making-do and economizing all the time," she said. "You have to keep constant watch on the stores for fear you miss your share of some scarce commodity."

As to Canadian grocery stores, she is overcome by the opulent displays and particularly likes the groceries—"where you go round with a cart and select what you want from the well-stocked shelves."

She had seen only one store of this type in England, at Eastbourne. She hopes the idea will soon catch on over there.

Mrs. Rogers has played a lot of tennis during an active life. Now she mostly enjoys watching it. Second to tennis she likes bridge; while not admitting to being an expert, she agrees that she plays a great deal.

Mrs. E. M. Rogers, associated with famous London firm.

And gardens, I asked, probing for some knowledgeable comments on Victoria gardens. But with Mrs. Rogers, gardening is purely a spectator sport. That is to say, she would prefer it that way, but unfortunately has to wield a hoe because, "I can't bear a garden not to be orderly."

Yes, they have a nice garden at Bex Hill. But she says she has seen little to compare with Victoria's roses. And as for Butchart's Gardens—"A glorious sight! Those delphiniums against the massed roses!"

"Canadian children are much more independent, advanced for their age, and predominate in the home more than English children," was her opinion. She looked fondly at her lively granddaughter, Penny, and quoted the four-year-old's answer when asked if she would be a good girl during grandma's visit: "We shall have to see."

Mrs. Rogers is delighted with Canadian scenery, especially Vancouver Island and the Interior of British Columbia, which she has visited during her stay.

She mentioned that in Vancouver she had gone to the Theatre Under-the-Stars, and seen the all-B.C. production, "Timber!"

"I thoroughly enjoyed it," was

Electronic Gimmick Teaches
Air Pilots Supersonic Flying

MONTREAL (CP).—R.C.A.F. by Canadian Aviation Electronics Ltd. from the Curtiss-Wright Corp. and the trainers will be built for the R.C.A.F. as soon as negotiations are completed.

EXPENSIVE APPARATUS
Although a single simulator will cost in the neighborhood of $275,000, officials say its use will cut the cost of training to a fraction of what it now is.

While the pilot sits at the controls a row of electronic brains housed in a metal cabinet outside the cockpit of the simulator instantly solve flight and engine power problems.

In the rear of the simulator's cockpit will be a "hell box" designed to produce flight difficulties ranging from fires to abnormal fuel consumption.

The simulator is designed to teach pilots to fly one particular type of aircraft with emphasis on its peculiar problems. Some of the major problems it overcomes are complete cockpit familiariza-tion, procedures and character-istics of the plane and how to meet emergency situation through end less repetition and solution of the problems.

Instructors will be able to send trainee pilots on mock-up flights across the country in the F-86 simulator to check their naviga-tion, landing procedure and run-way approach.

Periodically pilots can be brought back to the simulator for routine proficiency check-ups at little cost or expenditure of time.

Ghost of Zhdanov Haunts Soviet Writers as Party Line Switches

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
NEW YORK AP) — There's a spook over the Kremlin.

The ghost of Andrei Alexan-dro-vich Zhdanov, the Kremlin's press, both in Russia and the Satellite countries, must have writers dizzy.

In several months of this "discussion" Communist writers have been told, among many other conflicting things, that the titles of plays and books are poor and unimaginative, there is no contact between actors and playwrights, there is too little comedy, too little satire, too few plays in verse, "low ideological content," too much complacency, and playwrights seem to think that "a crook or a rogue must be dragged into every play as a standard villain."

What it all amounts to is that all Soviet artists and writers are scared stiff, and now the Zhdanov line is booming.

Just after the war Zhdanov decided that the millions of Red army soldiers who had gone abroad had seen too much of the world for the good of the U.S.S.R., and the party line demanded immediately the production of stereotyped works depicting the Soviet Union as the most glorious place under the sun.

Since the Soviet system knew no peer in human history, there could be no inner conflict. The Soviet writer and playwright was tripped over it. It still waits for party directions on how to struggle to its feet.

The "discussion" in the party
press, both in Russia and the Satellite countries, must have
writers dizzy.

Abd el Krim Gives Up Attempt to Free Arabs

CAIRO, July 16 (Reuters)—Abd el Krim, a living legend to millions of North Africans for three decades, announced Tuesday his movement to "liberate" Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco has failed.

The 70-year-old "Wolf of the Rif" said he is through with the North African Maghreb (Morocco) Liberation Committee.

He formed the organization after escaping in 1947 from the exile which followed his defeat 21 years before by the French and Spanish foreign legions in Morocco.

"Conflicting personal and political interests within the liberation committee have caused a failure of the liberation movement," Krim said.

"I have tried to forge the committee into an effective instrument to hasten the liberation of Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco but members worked independently, each styling himself 'the leader.' Our efforts were doomed."

The committee had been made up of representatives of various political factions in North Africa and had been in close contact with the Arab League.

Two years ago Krim warned that the "25,000,000 Arabs in Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia, seething under the fetters of 19th century-imperialism, will resort to force of arms if a peaceful solution to the Maghreb problem is not found."

France has protectorates over Tunisia and part of Morocco and governs Algeria as an integral part of her territory. Spain has a protectorate over part of Morocco.

Krim jumped parole in 1947 when the French were bringing him and his family from his exile island of Reunion, in the Indian Ocean off Madagascar, to the south of France for his health and the education of his children.

He escaped, and sought protection in Egypt. Since then he has been living with his family in a villa given him by King Farouk.

After his escape Krim urged Britain and the United States to help his organization "achieve our national aspirations."

Since the Second World War France has announced measures for more self-government in North Africa.

Ontario Women Arrested For Passing Bogus Money

OTTAWA, July 16 (CP)—The arrest of two young women Tuesday on charge of uttering counterfeit money launched a police search for two men, described as armed and dangerous, who are believed to be the leaders of a counterfeit ring.

Assistant Inspector of Detectives Borden Hobbs said he is convinced that the arrests upset one of the largest counterfeit plans in the province's history.

The two arrested women were Rita Bourdeau, 18, of Ottawa, and Rita Gatt, 27, of Jackson's Point, Ont.

Police said that investigations turned up $300 in counterfeit $10 bills which had been passed Tuesday afternoon in city stores. The bills were described as "fairly good" imitations, but printed on inferior quality paper.

The two women were arrested in a downtown variety store as one of them offered a $10 bill for a 15-cent item. Police said their handbags contained a quantity of bogus money.

Assistant Inspector Hobbs said police expect the arrest of the leaders of the ring shortly.

China Agrees To Clauses of Geneva Pact

TOKYO, July 16 (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai today announced that Communist China has recognized the 1949 Geneva convention prohibiting the use of poison gases and germ warfare in combat.

The announcement was made by Peking radio in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo by the Associated Press.

Chou was quoted as announcing recognition of "the protocol signed in Geneva, August, 1949." The protocol prohibits the use in war of asphyxiating, poisonous or other gases, and of bacteriological methods of warfare.

The radio said Red China's minister to Switzerland was instructed to transmit the statement to the Swiss Federal Council for communication to the governments of the contracting powers of these conventions.

'Gang-Up' Plot Against Kefauver, Says Manager

By DON WHITEHEAD

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—The calm Democratic front was shattered today by a charge of a "gang-up" plot against Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Then came a report that President Truman still is determined not to run for re-election.

The gang-up accusation came from Gael Sullivan, Kefauver's campaign manager, who told a press conference that supporters of rival candidates were involved in a "beat Kefauver" move. He did not say who they were.

Then in rapid-fire order came these developments:

1. Democratic national chairman Frank E. McKinney reported President Truman had instructed him Sunday to oppose any "Draft Truman" move that might develop in the Democratic national convention opening Monday.

2. McKinney told reporters Truman will not come to Chicago until after the Democratic nominee is chosen.

3. Sullivan demanded of McKinney that the entire convention proceedings be thrown open to press, radio and television because "we want to be free of those fixers and masters of the doublecross."

4. Sullivan said he had been told an effort had been made to bribe some of the California delegates.

5. McKinney said he has recommended all proceedings be open to television, radio and the press, that he knows of "no deals," and that "this is really a wide-open, free convention."

In addition, McKinney said he does not think the name of Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois will be placed in nomination.

Telling reporters of his Sunday talk with Truman, McKinney said the President told him: "I meant

ILMAKIRJE AEROGRAM

Helsinki, Helsinki, 9-7-52.

Dear Filip,
Olympic tension & fervor is mounting in the village. All the teams are arriving, & the flags are going up one by one as the athletes arrive. The Finns are a wonderful people, & who many can speak English; they all carry little dictionaries to translate. Helsinki is a surprisingly modern city with most people living in apartments. They have modern buses & all rides are free to us. Hundreds of people crowd around the gates to our village, & get autographs & it doesn't matter who you are. A universal language is being developed among the athletes & it is nothing to see a Brazilian, a German & a Canadian discussing something when none speak the other language. I think there is some sort of universal language of love & understanding that is being born on the surface of us all, and even if we can't get the finer shades of the other fellows' thought or understand his tongue, we all apparently use the same language of the hands, in fact the French practically talk out loud with their hands. It is amazing when you think Finland has just 4,000,000 people & that they can stage this biggest sports show on earth, & do it so well. Competition here is terrific, so don't look for anything too wonderful from our team of 15 against teams of 95, but we DO have a chance in a few spots to make the finals. If more youngsters could see what these kids on the team are getting out of an Olympic trip, there would be more try to make it a goal in their athletic life. I was in a furniture store today and their stuff is quite modern, in fact, some of their bedroom furniture looks just like ours up on the third floor, but I noticed they pay more attention to detail, and their light-colored woods are simply beautiful. I hope you fellows are keeping up the volume, and maybe I'll buy some of this furniture over here, and you could advertise it "A Fin for a Fin" or something corny like that. Tell Peggy I don't need those old shoes under my desk so if they get in her way, she can throw them out. Gotta go now,

'SLEEPING BEAUTY' STIRS

U.B.C. Co-Ed Awakening From Coma of Four Months

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 16 (CP)—The long sleep of pretty Edna Achtymichuk, 21-year-old university student from Calgary, is coming to an end.

Mrs. Lena Achtymichuk, the girl's mother, said Tuesday Edna sat up in a chair, took two steps and asked where she was and what had happened to her.

Monday, she said "mama"—her first word since an auto-bus accident March 13 plunged her into a coma from which doctors feared she might never awaken. She became known as the "sleeping beauty." For a month, she has been semi-conscious.

Mrs. Achtymichuk, who has been a constant visitor at the hospital ward where her daughter was brought from British Columbia, said she is not telling Edna about the accident until she improves. She told her only that she "had a bad cold."

SO-CALLED PLAN FOR B.C. OUTLINED BY BENNETT

Violence Marks Quebec Election

Mayor's Car Blasted by Shotgun Fire; Police Break Up Bat-Toting Crowds

Compiled from C.P., B.U.P. Dispatches
The blast of a shotgun charge against a mayor's windshield and a report of angry baseball bat-toting crowds highlighted the mass movement of 2,225,000 voters towards the polls today in Quebec's hectic provincial elections.

At Three Rivers the windshield of an automobile owned by Mayor J. A. Bongaing, who is opposing Premier Maurice Duplessis in the Three Rivers riding, was shattered by a shotgun blast late Tuesday, and the mayor said today "it was apparently an attempt to get me."

Quebec electors vote today from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. E.D.T. Early results are expected here about 5 p.m. P.D.T. Interested readers are invited to phone the Victoria Daily Times at B 3131 for the results as they come in on the Canadian Press wires.

In Verdun police were reported rounding up scores of persons attempting to interfere with the voting. At least 30 persons—many of them armed with baseball bats and other offensive weapons—have been taken into custody. Police say that some 75 persons gathered near the National Union Party headquarters and were promptly scattered by police squads.

$50,000 Loss Reported In Prince George Blaze

Women, Children Forced to Flee Destructive Path of Forest Fire as Men Resist Fiercely
PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., July 16 (CP)—Ten families are homeless and property damage of at least $50,000 was caused when a forest fire swept a tiny settlement near Chief Lake, 15 miles north of here.

Many women and children were forced to seek safety late Tuesday along the lake shore as the flames roared across 1,000 acres of woodlands into their homes.

One hundred men, using 12 tractors, fought the flames for hours, attempting to divert them from the village, but they were forced to retreat. Early today, however, the fire was reported under control.

Martell Shares Lead In Canadian Tourney

Edmonton Star Shoots Five Under-Par 67 in First Round of Open Championship
WINNIPEG, July 16 (CP)—Canadian golfers shaped up as unexpectedly strong contenders in today's opening 18-hole round of the 72-hole Canadian Open golf championship.

With about one-third of the field in from the St. Charles Country Club course, Henry Martell of Edmonton Highlands shared the lead with blond Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla. Each shot a five-under-par 67, equalling the competitive record for the course, set three years ago by Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn.

NEW B.C. CABINET TO IGNORE ISLAND

Novel Situation Brought About Through Failure to Elect Social Credit Member

For the first time since Confederation, Vancouver Island will not be represented in the new cabinet of British Columbia—providing Social Credit leader W. A. C. Bennett forms the new government as expected.

The reason is simple—Vancouver Islanders elected four Liberals, five C.C.F. members and one Conservative—no Social Crediters.

It has no candidate available for cabinet posts.
The probable cabinet which Mr. Bennett would form—became a source of great speculation today because none of the Social Crediters except himself and Mrs. Rolston has ever sat in the Legislature before. One, in fact, R. O. Newton of Columbia, has never been in Victoria.

PAST POLICY
In previous governments, leaders have always attempted to distribute cabinet posts at least in some way conforming to the geographical nature of the province, so that each section—the north, the Kootenays, the Okanagan, Vancouver and the Island, would have a voice on the executive council, if possible.

Choosing his cabinet will be quite a job for Mr. Bennett.
For one thing, he hasn't got a lawyer in the House for the post of Attorney-General. He intimated today he may have to go outside his elected members to secure a lawyer for the job, but this isn't settled. Such an appointee might be given House membership in a by-election.

There is nothing in the B.C. constitution that says the attorney-general must be a lawyer, but by custom and tradition it has been accepted he should be.

He is nominal head of the legal fraternity and heads the crown's law officers.
Mrs. Tillie Rolston of Point Grey is considered certain for a Socred cabinet post, probably education, because of her 11 year's experience in the House.

Leader Awaits Call; Early Session Unlikely

By GORDON FORBES, Times Legislative Reporter
Premier-designate W. A. C. Bennett, chosen Social Credit leader Tuesday, indicated today he may not call the new legislature into session until early next year.

In an interview with the Times, Mr. Bennett said if he is called on to form a government his immediate task will be to name a Cabinet "so we can get the ordinary process of government functioning."

"We will deal with as much as we can without a session," Mr. Bennett said. "A session will only be called if we need additional authority by legislation." Social Credit, he emphasized, wants to bring about stability in government.

Mr. Bennett won the Socred party leadership on the first ballot over four other nominees.

W. A. C. BENNETT
... man of the moment

See story on Bennett's career, Page 13.

He was elected by secret ballot at an all-day caucus of the 19 members-elect in the Hotel Vancouver.

His election by party caucus marked the first time such a procedure has been followed in B.C. political history. Other parties have elected their leaders at open conventions attended by the rank and file of the organization.

The premier-designate's election was made unanimous by his 18 fellow members-elect.

Other candidates for leadership were Peer V. Paynter, S.C. organizer who failed to take the Revelstoke seat in the election; J. A. Reid, long-time Socred and newly-elected member for Salmon Arm; Thomas Irwin, elected in Delta, and Rev. P. A. Gagliardi, Kamloops.

In his telephone interview with the Times today Mr. Bennett promised the people of British Columbia "a sound Christian government based on truth, honesty, integrity and efficiency."

Salient Socred Policy Outlined
Here are the salient points arising out of the interview with B.C.'s next probable premier:

1. Social Credit will take the compulsory out of hospital insurance, abolish co-insurance and probably reduce premiums.
2. If the I.W.A. and other strikes are not settled before they take office, the Social Credit government will step in and referee.
3. A "further inquiry" will be conducted into the liquor question before anything is done about the recent plebiscite in which the majority of voters voted for sale of liquor by the glass.
4. The Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act will be reviewed immediately by the new cabinet with a view to proposed changes.
5. The Workmen's Compensation Act will be reviewed and amendments recommended in the Sloan Report, may be put to the House.
6. The milk question, dealing with the price paid to producers and the price paid by consumers, will be studied.

7. The new government is opposed to heavy borrowing and, as far as possible, will operate on a pay-as-you-go basis.

8. All public works projects, which have been held up by the unsettled political picture, will be considered on their merits.

9. The existing 50-cent sales tax exemption limit on meals in restaurants will be raised, and the whole sales tax structure reviewed.

10. Increased returns will be sought from Ottawa for the rental of provincial income and corporation tax fields.

11. Because the new government has no lawyer-member, there is a possibility an attorney-general, who is not a member, will be appointed, and a by-election held later.

12. Premier-designate Bennett will not act as finance minister.

13. The new premier will name a full cabinet.

Bennett Will Make Home Here
The new Socred leader said he intends to make a home in Victoria, but will keep the "family home" at Kelowna.

In view of 'thet runnin' broad jump—from back bench to premiership—Wacky should be in Helsinki instead of Victoria.

At Jasper last night the orchestra was playin' "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes"—and they weren't kiddin'.

Hey, Tyees, whoa! When we asked you to "Save Baseball" we didn't intend fur you to run away with it!
